Ike and Mr. K to Visit Abilene

Washington Notes: At a time when every publicity-alert Chamber of Commerce is dreaming up something for Nikita Khrushchev to put eyes upon, it might be of interest to know what the President of the United States will hope to show Mr. K. when he visits here.

Number one on his list is the little frame house in Abilene, Kan., where the Eisenhower clan got its start. Six boys were born in the house and all of them managed to attain some prominence in life. Each one knew hard, hand labor. Each knew what it was to rise before dawn and do chores and to continue through the day, completing the final ones after dark.

The President began to think about this when he read about the Khrushchev pride in his own humble beginnings. He was the more struck with the idea when he read how the grand exalted wizard of the Kremlin had suggested to Vice President Nixon that he, representative of a capitalist nation, had never really done any work. The Vice President had replied tartly, informing Khrushchev of how father Nixon had worked arduously and with small financial reward and of how he, Richard, second highest official in the United States, had held down jobs and worked his way through school.

Khrushchev Doubts
Khrushchev had accepted it, but with his doubts plainly showing. So it is that the President hankers to escort the premier to Abilene, and there take him into the little house, now a museum, and to tell him stories of the early days of the Eisenhower boys when life was hard and bleak on the Kansas prairies in the semi-frontier years.

It is not a bad idea. It may not impress the son of a Ukrainian sheepherder and peasant, but he will hardly escape the fact that within our own semantics the Nixons and the Eisenhowers were peasant people and used to working with their hands.

The President has let it be known that in his last year in office he would like to play the role of mediator, the person who helped the world find its way to the paths of conciliation and peace.

He cannot have failed to note that even the Russians have spoken well of him as a good-intentioned man. They have not suggested that he himself has an evil heart, dedicated to the dollar profits to be made from war, or preparation for it, though they have, to be sure, charged he is a prisoner of such men.

Evoked Applause
It was noted on the Nixon journey to Russia and Poland that mention of Dwight Eisenhower's name evoked loud and sincere applause. Just as no honest man may refuse to say the Vice President first of all did a job of representing his country in the two Communist nations visited, so must it be said none can doubt the President is a man of good will and peace.

It will be in this mood that he will enter the talks with the Soviet leader. He will entertain all ideas. But he will hold fast, with a sometimes difficult to understand stubbornness, to the principles and policies to which he is pledged. Nor will he agree to any talk of establishing two great spheres of influence and making decisions withheld from his allies, and ours.

But, he will seek to be the mediator, and if the roly-poly, extrovert from the vast nation called Russia wants to crack open the door of peace ever so slightly, then the Eisenhower foot will go in the crack along with Khrushchev's.

The President will be at some disadvantage. He is, as his critics have said, a somewhat naive man as one is apt to be whose boyhood was spent in a strictly religious home. He believes in the dignity of man and in the fact that a spiritual quality gives fullness to life.

Khrushchev believes in no such concept of man. He carries aloft the Leo Durocher banner with the mocking slogan that nice guys finish last. But the Dutch can rise in Eisenhower, and his voice can grow cold and the smile be no deeper than his teeth.

So, we shall see.

Ike's Veto On Housing Is Upheld

Democrats Try
For Compromise

By ALLEN DRURY
(Copyright 1959, The New York Times Co.)
WASHINGTON—Senate Democrats failed Wednesday to override President Eisenhower's veto of the $1,375,000,000 housing bill. They turned immediately to plans for a substitute measure that might win the President's approval.

The Democratic motion to pass the vetoed bill over Eisenhower's objections received a vote of 55-40, but this was nine votes short of the two-thirds majority needed to override. Two Republicans, Sens. Javits of New York and Scott of Pennsylvania, voted with those Democrats, principally from the North and West, who supported the motion.

Sen. Robertson (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Banking Currency Committee, immediately announced that the committee would meet at 10 a.m. Thursday to work on a compromise proposal. He said the committee would stay in session most of the day, if necessary, to complete work on the substitute.

PRESERVED STRING

The Senate action preserved unbroken the President's record of never having had a veto overridden in his 6½ years in office. The Senate previously had tried on four different occasions to override a veto and had succeeded twice. Both times, however, the House voted to uphold the President and the attempt failed. Wednesday's vote in the Senate meant that the House would not be called upon to pass upon the housing veto.

The prospects for a compromise bill were increased noticeably earlier in the day when the President told a news conference in Gettysburg that he was "not one to refuse to compromise." The subsequent Senate vote was believed likely to increase the prospects for a substitute bill, since many members, though they could not accept the larger bill vetoed by the President, were determined to pass some kind of housing legislation before Congress adjourns.

PREDICTS PASSAGE
Sen. Capehart of Indiana, ranking Republican and former chairman of the banking and currency committee, predicted prior to Wednesday's vote that the Senate would pass "unanimously" a compromise $1,050,000,000 measure prepared by a subcommittee. He also predicted House passage of the compromise.

Labor Bill Leaps 2 House Hurdles

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — The Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill easily survived two test votes in the House Wednesday and collides head-on Thursday with a milder bill approved by the labor committee.

The first test came when the House voted down, 215 to 160, a civil rights amendment Rep. Griffin (R-Mich.) charged was aimed at killing the tough reform bill he and Rep. Landrum (D-Ga.) have offered.

Then, at the end of the uproarious day of debate, the House defeated, 245 to 132, a third and weaker reform bill sponsored by Rep. Shelley (D-Calif.) and backed by the AFL-CIO.

The pro-labor Shelley bill was put forward as a substitute to the Landrum-Griffin bill. Defeat of the Shelley proposal leaves the Landrum-Griffin bill the pending business before the house as a substitute for the committee measure.

Republicans joined Southern Democrats in marching up the aisle in teller votes to defeat both bills.

He then ordered a waiting fire truck into position and firemen opened up on the crowd with two hoses.

Little Rock Integrates As Police Arrest 24, Rout 200 With Clubs

Fire Hoses Turned on Marchers

By MARION GAINES
Constitution Staff Writer
LITTLE ROCK—Two white high schools were successfully integrated here Wednesday after club-swinging police broke up a 200-man protest march and arrested 24 persons—including four women—only one block from Central High.

The tense school crisis here exploded into short-lived violence when unhesitating Little Rock police met a marching crowd of angry segregationists head-on.

The lawmen routed the rebellious marchers with skull-thumping billy clubs and streams of water from two fire hoses.

One youthful demonstrator was cracked over the head with a billy club and, as blood streamed down his face, was thrust into the black and white paddy wagon.

The melee erupted only one block short of Central High at the same intersection where two years ago a crowd of protesters was dispersed at bayonet point by U.S. paratroopers.

As the lawmen collided with the marchers, an elderly woman with white hair slipped—or was shoved—to the ground where she lay stunned for several moments.

A number of the protesters were struck by the freely swung police clubs while a steady stream of water poured from a big red fire truck blocking the street.

Police Chief Gene Smith told the demonstrators over an electric bull horn to move back and clear the street when men tried to hurl themselves through the police line.

He then ordered a waiting fire truck into position and firemen opened up on the crowd with two hoses.

Most of the demonstrators fell back as the stinging streams of water hit them.

Ike To Talk Tough To Khrushchev

(Copyright 1959 by the New York Times Co.)
GETTYSBURG, Pa.—President Eisenhower served notice Wednesday that he would pull no punches in talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev on the cause and cure of East-West tensions and promotion of world peace.

The President mentioned the Communist uprising in Laos as a likely topic of discussion and said he would demand to know of the Soviet leader why he had prevented the recent foreign ministers conference from making some "measurable progress" to justify a summit meeting.

In the same context, the President told his regular news conference here that he would be glad to explain to Khrushchev that this country needed foreign military bases as a deterrent to any surprise attack. And although the premier has said he is not interested, Eisenhower said he would invite him to inspect military installations here without requiring the same courtesy when he visits Russia.

While he made no mention of it Wednesday, the President is known to regard Khrushchev's visit to the United States as a probing action in which he may

Scorching 90s Won't Go Away

No relief is in sight for Atlanta and north Georgia residents Thursday and Friday when the weather is expected to continue partly cloudy and hot with a chance of afternoon and evening thundershowers.

High temperatures of 92 degrees and lows of 72 degrees are predicted for both days. Wednesday's extremes were 70 and 88 degrees.

The State Highway department announced Wednesday it is dipping into emergency maintenance funds made available by Gov. Vandiver recently to do $609,966 worth of road repairing.

The money will be spent on 27 maintenance projects—the first of many to be undertaken, the department said.

One of the projects in the Atlanta area calls for eight miles of concrete patching on State Route 3 from the Fulton County line to State Route 5 at an estimated cost of $7,000. Another calls for 20 miles of concrete patching on SR 13 from Hall County to the DeKalb County line.

The largest single project, cost-wise, is for 17 miles of double surface treatment on SR 27 between McRae and Lumber City. Estimated cost is $56,766.

Meanwhile Wednesday, highway officials said right-of-way encroachments have been cleared up and a work order issued for the rebuilding of U.S. 11 from the Tennessee line to Trenton.

Health Dept. 'Sure' To Keep Hospital

By GENE BRITTON

Gov. Vandiver's Commission on Economy and Reorganization is expected to recommend legislation Thursday that would permanently assign jurisdiction of Milledgeville State Hospital to the Health department.

The professional committee of doctors who prompted the transfer of the hospital from the Welfare department to the Health department last year, said they are confident the transfer will result in a completely new and separate department of mental health be set up eventually to administer the hospital.

But The Constitution learned Wednesday that a subcommittee of the Economy and Reorganization Commission was proposing legislation to give the Health department permanent control.

For two hours Francesco used what little swimming skill he had to stay afloat. Death was not only a prospect but merely a matter of a little more time.

Then the fate that had caused the Italian seaman to lose his balance while working near a rail and toppled into the sea unnoticed Tuesday took an apologetic turn.

Herter Asks Unity in Caribbean

By STANFORD BRADSHAW
SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told the foreign ministers of 21 American republics Wednesday that current Caribbean problems can be solved if dealt with "cooperatively in a spirit of reason and good will."

Speaking at the opening session of the American foreign ministers conference, Herter said the mere calling of the meeting "is in itself evidence that a crisis exists" in the Caribbean.

The ministers of the Organization of American States were summoned to deal with invasions and rumors of invasions in the Caribbean. The problem is to discourage dictatorship in the Americas without interfering with zealously guarded rights of national sovereignty.

Herter spoke on behalf of his colleagues who had been welcomed by Chilean President Jorge Alessandri.

THUNDEROUS APPLAUSE

A round of applause thundered in the hotel conference room overlooking the snow-capped Andes when Herter walked to the speaker's stand without the help of his aluminum crutches. Herter suffers from arthritis.

The applause was repeated by some 300 persons who greeted him when he left the U. S. Embassy here after lunching with Colombia's Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala.

Herter said he thought the problems to be dealt with here were more capable of early solution than those he discussed with his French, British and Soviet counterparts at the recently ended Geneva Big Four talks on Germany. No agreements were reached at the 10-week-long Geneva meetings.

Herter declared that the main problem facing the hemispheric ministers is to "restore the traditional balance between peace on the one hand, and freedom and progress on the other."

CITES 4 PRINCIPLES

This can be achieved, he said, by giving proper emphasis to four principles: Nonintervention, collective security, effective exercise of representative democracy and respect for human rights, and co-operation for an economic and social program.

Herter cautioned the ministers not to be "deluded into mistaking temporary disorder for a cancer in the heart of peace or for permanent paralysis of the sinews of freedom."

Phone Strikers Tie Up Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Uruguay was virtually paralyzed Wednesday by a surprise 24-hour strike of power and telephone workers.

About 12,000 workers of the state power monopoly turned off the light and phone switches at central stations. They demand wage increases of about 70 per cent and other benefits.

Montevideo's downtown shopping and financial centers were almost deserted. No newspapers published, radio stations were silent and factories were closed all over the country.

Souped-Up Bomarc-B Passes Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force fired its new super Bomarc-B antiaircraft missile on an apparently successful short-range test flight over the Atlantic Wednesday.

There was no official announcement, but the sleek 47-foot rocket appeared to function smoothly as it raced through the sky. Its path was plainly marked by a long trail of white smoke from its solid-fuel engine.

The Air Force said the purpose of the flight was to test the Bomarc-B's air frame, boost system and general aerodynamic behavior. This was only the third test for the new weapon and it was not set to fly its full 400-mile range.

The Bomarc-B has a sensitive target-seeker that enables it to track down and destroy slow-moving guided missiles as well as planes. Its speed is believed to be in excess of 2,000 miles an hour.

7 Teens Injured in Crash Here

Seven teen-agers were injured in a two-car collision at Peachtree Battle avenue and Alton drive, NW, late Wednesday night.

The drivers, Hazen Stevens, 16, of 2805 Queensberry Lane, NE, and John D. Hanes, 16, of 180 Blackland Rd., NW, were not injured. One passenger in the Stevens car and six passengers in the Hanes car were taken to Piedmont Hospital for treatment.

Miss Dorothy Maddox, 15, of 3565 Tuxedo Rd., NW, was believed in serious condition. Patrolman J. C. Ward said he was told she suffered a fractured skull.

ANOTHER 6 HURT

Others injured were Harry Gunlin, 16, of 333 Pineland Rd., NW; Miss Anna Willingham, 15, of a Tuxedo road, NW, address: Morton Hodgson, 16, of 3628 Tuxedo Rd., NW; Miss Judy Morgan, 14, of 3992 Pine Hill Pl., NW; Elliott Ray Taylor Jr., 16, of 526 King Rd., NW, and Miss Lynn Petters, 16, of 73 Palisades Rd., NE.

Police charged the Stevens youth with driving without a license and failure to yield right of way.

BOY CUT, BRUISED

A 2-year-old boy suffered cuts and bruises late Wednesday night when he dashed in front of a truck and was struck down, police said.

The boy, Robert M. Atkins, of 697 Confederate Ave., SE, was admitted to Grady Hospital after a truck driven by Robert H. Carnes, 24, of 188 Hickory St., Decatur, hit him.

Patrolman R. W. Gilstrap said the driver and witnesses reported seeing the youngster dart out from behind a parked car into the street in front of the boy's home. The driver said he struck the boy before he could stop the truck, Gilstrap reported.

End Row or Lose Convention, Los Angeles Warned by Butler

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee said Wednesday that Chairman Paul M. Butler has told Los Angeles officials they may lose the 1960 Democratic National Convention unless they settle a ticket squabble by Monday.

The committee said Butler has not issued any ultimatum, but that if the matter is not ironed out promptly he might have to invite five other cities to resubmit bids for the convention.

Cities submitting losing bids last February were San Francisco, Chicago, Philadelphia, Miami Beach and New York.

Blocking arrangements for the convention is a dispute between Edwin W. Pauley, Los Angeles oil man and finance chairman of the convention host committee, who is demanding more than 3,000 convention tickets, and the national committee, which will not give the host group more than 1,500.

OF Casey Jones Can Rest Easy, Thanks to PSC

VAUGHAN, Miss. (UPI)—The Mississippi Public Service Commission Wednesday refused a request by the Illinois Central Railroad to close its agency station at Vaughan, the little railroad town immortalized by the wreck of engineer Casey Jones.

Jones, of Jackson, Tenn., stayed in the cab of his locomotive when it bore down on a stalled freight train here and died in the wreck. He yelled for his fireman, Sam Webb, to jump and Webb escaped.

chairman of the national committee, confirmed that Butler had stressed the urgency of a solution of the ticket problem in a telephone talk with Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

He said Butler told Hahn and other city and county officials that:

1. He is not going to increase the ticket offer of 1,500.

2. It is urgent that the problem be settled by Monday.

3. He wants the convention contract signed before the national committee meeting on Sept. 16. This meeting will arrange convention details and decide delegate strength.

Brightman said Butler told Hahn that the national committee wants the convention to stay in Los Angeles, but if the host group didn't quickly settle the ticket question he would have to start talking to other cities.

Grandma Wins Beauty Title But They Float Her Away

ILFRACOMBE, England (AP)—A 54-year-old grandmother chosen as bathing belle of the town's annual carnival was disowned by the organizing committee Wednesday.

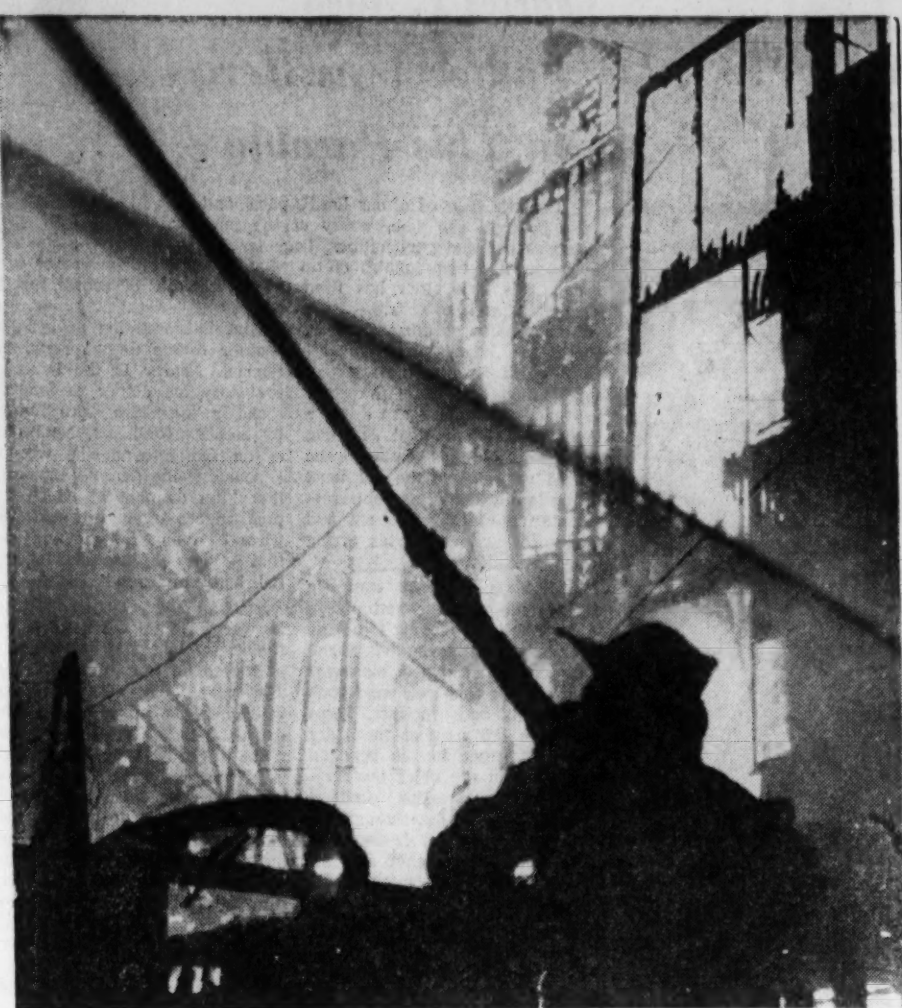

Comey, dark-haired Ethel Vickery said the organizers had declined to let her ride a float in the big parade, leaving her, so to speak, without a spot to pose in.

Well-preserved Mrs. Vickery—vital statistics 38-28-38—won the bathing belle title over a field of 20 young rivals by public ballot.

Voting tickets were on the official carnival program, which cost a shilling—14 cents—a copy. After the votes were counted the organizers claimed the ballot box was stuffed by friends of the glamorous grandma who bought programs by the dozen.

"That's right, and what of it?" said an anonymous supporter of Mrs. Vickery. "She's a jolly good sport and she's been trying to win the bathing belle title for the last five years."

Gary Crosby Feuds With Father Bing

By RICK DU BROW

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Bing Crosby's eldest son, Gary, said Wednesday he is bitterly estranged from his famous father.

Gary, 26, said in an exclusive interview:

"We just don't get along."

He said his father has not come to see him and his three brothers—Dennis, Philip and Lindsay—in their successful new nightclub act at the Sahara Hotel here.

WON'T INVITE

And, Gary added, he has no plans to invite Bing.

"The other boys can invite him if they want," he said. "Ain't gonna bother me in the least."

"Dad did some things last Christmas that I felt were far from right. They're personal, very personal, and I can't explain any more. But he's done a lot of other things in the past that I didn't like. I'm sure no one knows him as well as I do, although a lot of people think they do."

Gary criticized "all that propaganda pop spread about us wanting to be ranchers."

12½ HOURS A DAY

"You remember that business about us working 12½ hours a day on the ranch at 33 1-3 cents an hour," he said.

He was referring to the ranch the Crooner formerly owned in Elko, Nev.

Friends of the Crosby family have reported that Bing might slip in town quietly and unexpectedly some night to catch his boys' act, which opened July 28 and closes Sept. 3.

"NO SUCH PLANS"

But Bing's brother and business adviser, Larry, said in Hollywood:

"I doubt it. Bing has no such plans that I know of. One reason is that he's with a group fishing off Alaska. He's on a cruiser and out of touch."

"I'm not going up to Vegas. The boys want to be on their own, and I imagine Bing feels the same way about it that I do."

Gary said he and his brothers always wanted to be in show business.

NAME HELPED

"We just waited until Linnie got out of the Army," he said. "We always knew we could get along on our own although some people, of course, didn't think so. The Crosby name has always helped. But you've gotta have something else to make it because if you're out there five minutes and nothing happens, Dad, you're dead."

Gary disagreed with a comment that many people thought he bore striking resemblance to his father in looks and stage presence.

"A lot of people think I look like my mother," said Gary, who

2 Bandits Shot by Merchant

HAMPTON, Va. (AP)—A 65-year-old York County general store owner turned the tables on two armed robbers Wednesday and critically wounded both of them after they had taken his money and shot him in the leg.

The elderly sharpshooter, Cecil Saunders, told police two men came into his store shortly before noon and ordered soft drinks. As he turned around, he said, one of the men drew a pistol and demanded money.

Saunders said he gave them approximately $500 and without provocation one of the men shot him in the leg and both dashed from the store.

Saunders said he reached for his own pistol and fired three times. The first shot went wild. The other two scored and the pair fell to the ground just short of a getaway car.

Shot in the lower back was Ervin E. Barlow, 24, of Hampton. Shot in the chest was Carroll Grant Dillon, also of Hampton. Both were taken to the hospital here in critical condition.

Saunders was treated for a minor leg wound by a private physician. The money was recovered.

We Need the Facts On Steel Dispute

With steel supplies dwindling at a steady rate, there still is no sign of any approach to settlement of the strike which already is causing widespread unemployment and economic distress. In fact, both union and management continue to issue statements which are in angry conflict.

Out of all this maze eventually must come some facts. This probably can be achieved only through a government fact-finding board, which the President can set up if he uses power granted to him under the Taft-Hartley Act. Through this method the conflicting claims might be reconciled to make sense.

As Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said in a speech on the Senate floor the other day, the industry claims it is protecting the consumer by restricting what it terms "inflationary" wage increases. Labor argues that the industry in so doing is simply pocketing the gains made possible by the labor productivity increase.

The senator pointed out, too, that the upward trend of hourly earnings in the steel industry has exceeded the advance in man-hour productivity with the result that unit labor costs have risen. This on the other hand has been substantially exceeded by the rise in steel prices—with the price increase in 1957 being twice the increase in costs resulting from the wage boost.

In addition, the senator declared, profits—after taxes—of 14 major steel companies jumped 147 per cent this far in 1959 over 1958. Net profits also were 23 per cent above the old record first half of 1957.

In an industry in which price competition is non-existent, the loser in this conflict is the consumer. He has been the loser in all these wage-price spirals engendered in steel. He has gained nothing but higher prices from increased productivity.

Thus the nation itself is the loser, not only from inflation, but in the fact we are losing our foreign as well as domestic markets for steel. For the first time this year, import tonnage of the metal is running ahead of exports.

It's time we got some facts. In an economy geared to steel production, every citizen is affected and it is thus the people's business. Both the industry and labor had best become aware of this at last.

Little Rock's high schools opened yesterday on a limited integration basis with much less trouble than had been anticipated. A crowd of 200 demonstrators was dispersed in short order.

The fact this could be so after two years of bitter controversy was due to better preparation by the city's police department. It was due also to the fact that the city's elected school board has done its best to work out a way to save its public schools without further strife.

Gov. Faubus' plea that "nothing is to be gained by disorder and violence" came about two years too late. If he had taken this stand in 1957 instead of that of a political opportunist who joined hands with the agitators, Little Rock would have been spared the past two years—including a year of closed schools.

The past two years in Little Rock stand as a monument to failure. Certainly everything which has been tried, including the private-school plan, has failed. Public schools with a strong pupil placement plan again will be attempted. If extremists on both sides will cease their destructive tactics, Little Rock can make it work.

Little Rock police have demonstrated their ability to keep order without interference from the state or federal governments.

Meanwhile, Gov. Faubus' failure at leadership, which resulted in violence and humiliation for Little Rock and a breakdown of public education, will remain as one of the most shameful tributes to political ambition of modern times.

Police Letter to Parents Is a Reminder of Duty

While many adults and organizations protest about juvenile delinquency one day and forget about it the next, state police in Connecticut are doing something tangible about it right now.

The police are writing "Dear Mom" and "Dear Dad" letters to parents of youths who find themselves in Dutch with the law because of socially unacceptable behavior.

Certainly this is a sensible and very human action that could have unexpected beneficial ramifications.

The "Dear Mom, Dear Dad" letters could become a tradition, like those other letters from Uncle Sam. They should help to alert parents to the dangers of continued negligence, where it exists, and should serve to remind them pointedly of their duties and responsibilities as parents.

When more parents are mindful of their responsibilities, the trend of rising delinquency will be reversed.

Is State Abandoning School Funds Formula?

No Georgia school system will get less state funds for operating this year than in the previous year, according to an announcement following a conference between Gov. Vandiver and State School Supt. Purcell. Those with enrollment increases will receive additional funds.

The announcement followed previous indications that some systems would have a decrease in state aid under attendance and other formulas.

No one begrudges, of course, money spent on improving educational opportunities in the state. But the question does come up once more about the formula for distribution. This has been based on average daily attendance and some vague economic index.

If funds allotted to all systems are to be no less than the previous year, what about the average daily attendance stipulation? If losses in school population are to mean no commensurate reduction in state funds, is this fair to communities which are having to absorb greater and greater numbers of those who are migrating?

If systems are to be guaranteed at least the same amount of funds as in the previous year, will it not make for and perpetuate continuance of inefficient and uneconomical operations? Will it not mean a greater and greater differential in per-pupil allocation of state funds between the various systems and less and less local participation?

It seems to us that in adjusting the school budget, Supt. Purcell will have to come up with answers to these questions. In the next four years there will be an additional 100,000 or more children in Georgia schools, most of them concentrated in a comparatively few counties. If the present average daily attendance formula is to be disregarded, will schools with growing enrollments be further penalized?

It seems to us still that school funds should be spent where the pupils are and not in response to local political pressures. In the latter event, Georgia's public school system will become more and more expensive and the prospect of teacher pay raises and other improvements will be more and more remote.

Road Repair Cost Is Penalty of Past Laxity

Repair work that is about to get under way on 27 stretches of Georgia highways will be most welcome.

With funds so limited and so many roads in dire need of improvement, it undoubtedly posed quite a problem as to priority of work.

But the 27 projects have been selected as a starter and others are to be designated later.

The necessity for most of this periodic patching is attributable to a long-held tradition in Georgia—political road building.

The penalty of such folly is costly indeed.

Let us hope, as we bump along our washboard highways, that the lesson has been learned and that future construction will be done on the basis of real need rather than political expediency. Another welcome change from past practice would be an insistence upon high quality workmanship in building roads.

Meanwhile, let's get on with the patching the best we can while the immediate past governor rants on and on about all the fine roads he built.

She Has Four Fingers, Big Toe on Same Hand

Would you swap your thumb for your big toe? That's what a 16-month-old Texas girl has done. The door slammed on her thumb and it had to be removed.

A plastic surgeon performed the operation and then removed her big toe and transplanted it on her hand in the place of the missing thumb.

Little Elizabeth Kacall of Houston is doing quite well now, thank you, with her four fingers and big toe. And Dr. Bromley S. Freeman is due a bouquet for his successful series of operations.

Pulse of the Public

Atlantan Expresses Alarm at Grand Jury Recommendations Concerning Gun Sales

Atlanta — Reading the recent article on gun regulations, you might ask him what the solution is. There are no steel strikes in Soviet Russia because when a worker objects to treatment by his employer he is put into a slave labor camp.

The free labor movement is a cornerstone of our democracy. Legislation such as that proposed by Rep. Landrum can only hasten the day for a totalitarian form of government.

E. T. KEHRER,
Director, Southeastern Region, International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Editor's Note: The Constitution always has upheld the rights of organized labor in a free society. However, we never have nor do we now consider as "rights" abuses of power under the banner of freedom by any organized group or their leaders which are detrimental to the public interest. Whether it be in labor or industry, freedom carries corresponding responsibilities. Shocking findings of the McClellan committee have revealed existence of conditions which call for corrective legislation. We, along with the majority of citizens, regret that it's necessary.

Fulton Judges Split on Low-Cost Furnishings

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Fulton Civil Court judges have approved lower-priced wood furniture for their new offices in the Civil-Criminal Court building, but Fulton Criminal Court judges have rejected it.

County Purchasing Agent Roy W. Baker said orders have been issued for $10,855.59 worth of furniture from Carithers-Wallace-Courtenay, Inc., second lowest bidder on the furniture for Civil Court Solicitor John I. Kelley.

This price was more than $6,000 cheaper than the furniture would have cost under previous bidding, which drew strong objections from the county commissioners because the bids included executive desks costing $600 apiece.

If purchased under the other bid — which was rejected on grounds it did not meet the specifications — the furniture would have cost $17,470.05, Baker said.

In a joint letter to County Commission Chairman James H.

Aldredge, Judges Charles G. Bruce and Charles A. Wofford rejected the furniture, contending

Quick Recovery

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—Sheriff's Deputy Elmer Dressler isn't a man to waste time. At 1:45 a.m. he got a report that an auto was stolen from in front of a tavern. At 1:47 Dressler radioed he had found the abandoned vehicle in a nearby shopping center.

It was not only not in keeping with appointments of the new building but was also inferior to their present office furniture.

The judges added that their present furnishings "would be equally adequate" and said that they would continue to use them — instead of accepting the new furniture — and save the taxpayers money.

At the same time, however, they contended that their previous furniture request was in keeping with the new building. Requests included the controversial $600 desks.

The commissioners, basing most of their objections on the $600, said they rejected previous bids with the explanation that the bid specifications themselves were set too high. They drew new specifications based on a desk in the $300 class in Civil Court Judge Tom Camp's office.

Judge Camp plans to use his present furniture in the new building.

Under the new bid, executive desks were quoted $283.21 per desk and secretarial desks were priced at $267.17.

Judges Bruce and Wofford objected that the furniture which Baker had planned to order had not been inspected by them but by "someone not connected with our court."

Commissioner Aldredge said he interpreted the letter as meaning that the two Criminal Court judges would take their old furniture now in the courthouse with them to the new building rather than accept new furniture which did not meet the quality they wanted.

The contract for the furniture was awarded to the second low bidder on recommendation of County Manager A. J. Fuller, chief Civil Court Judge J. Wilson Parker and an assistant purchasing agent.

Jury Probes Teen Brawl In Smyrna

The Cobb County Grand Jury Wednesday began investigating the youth gang fight which erupted Aug. 4 at the Smyrna teenage canteen.

The grand jury was asked to indict 17 Atlanta youths on riot charges, said Solicitor General Luther Hames.

The solicitor said the jurors began the investigation late Wednesday afternoon and will resume their hearing Thursday morning when Smyrna Police Chief Paul Epps will present evidence in the case.

The grand jury began its current session Monday.

There were reports Wednesday that Smyrna citizens were circulating a petition calling upon the solicitor to press the case.

"I'll leave it up to the grand jury to decide what to do," Solicitor Hames said.

The original charges against the youths on the Smyrna police docket were "inciting to riot." However, the bill of indictment presented to the grand jury lists the charges as "riot," a misdemeanor.

Nineteen Atlanta youths — two of them juveniles — were arrested by Smyrna police chief the night of the brawl. Police had received advance information that the Atlanta youths were en route to Smyrna in a motorcade to start trouble and moved in swiftly to break up the disturbance.

pertinent questions:

Q. "How old are you?"

A. "Sixteen."

Q. "Did you have your parents permission to leave Detroit?"

A. "Well, not exactly."

Q. "Did you run away from home?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Sgt. Sheppard called the boy's mother and father in Detroit.

"HOW SOON"

They said they loved their son very much. "How soon can we get him?" the father asked.

"We'll be glad to detain him for you at the Fulton County Juvenile Home if you desire that," said the sergeant, "he can stay there until you wire him funds to go home. We'll see that he gets on the bus, train or plane, but we can't guarantee that he'll stay on until he gets to Detroit."

The runaway's eyes were watery. "I'll go straight home, tell Pop," he said.

The father wanted to talk to the boy. Father and son talked and talked. The tears were soon gone and the boy said "Goodbye, I love you."

EATS BIG MEAL

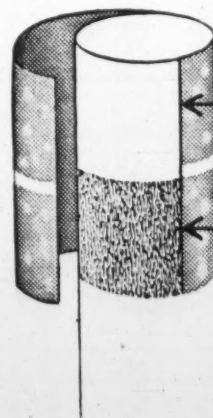

"Let's go eat a good meal," the sergeant said.

Here's what the penniless boy, who said he hadn't eaten in 2½ days, ate: a stack of pancakes, a large bowl of tomato and rice soup, four glasses of sweet milk, an all-the-way hamburger, a cheese sandwich, a small portion of fruit salad, an apple and two candy bars.

"I wouldn't worry about that suitcase too much," Sgt. Sheppard said, leaving the youngster at the juvenile home. "That theft was the best thing that could have happened to you."

Aldermen Open Bids for South and Flint River Plant Expansion

Bids for expansion and improvement of South River and Flint River sewage plants cost $2,837,700 were opened Wednesday by the aldermanic board's purchasing committee.

Alderman L. O. Moseley, committee chairman, said G. E. Tillman, Inc., of Centralia, Ill., was apparent low bidder.

A special meeting of the aldermanic board's public works committee No. 2, headed by Alderman Jack Summers, has been called for 1:30 p.m. Monday so the award can be offered for approval to the full aldermanic board which meets at 2 p.m. Monday.

The Tillman organization agreed to install a 12-million-gallon-a-day high rate filter-activated sludge addition to the existing treatment plant which now has a capacity of 6-million gallons a day.

Marion Nixon, acting city construction chief while Chief Ray Nixon is away on vacation, said bids will be asked later for electrical work, sludge digestion and disposal facilities at South River.

The contract also calls for construction of a new digester head house for new sludge pumps, digester heaters and other equipment at the Flint river sewage treatment plant.

The improvements will be financed from 1957 sewer bond funds. The bids are slightly higher than estimates, Marion Nixon said.

Bibb Holding Off Mrs. Lyle's Return

The question of where Mrs. Annette Donovan Lyles will be confined while she awaits the outcome of her appeal for clemency remained unanswered Wednesday.

Mrs. Lyles was still at Reidsville State Prison.

Corrections Director Jack Forrester still insisted that she should be returned to jail in Macon.

Macon authorities still declined to act while Bibb County Sheriff James Wood is on vacation.

There was one new development in the Lyles case, although not related to the stalemate over where she is to be jailed.

The attorneys who successfully prosecuted her in the anti-poison death of her 9-year-old daughter filed papers with the Board of Pardons and Paroles formally opposing a defense plea that her death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

William Kimbrough, chairman of the Pardons and Parole Board, said the filing by the state's attorneys was a mere formality "to join the issue with the defense."

Forrester, meanwhile, indicated he plans no steps to force the Bibb County sheriff's office to reassume custody of Mrs. Lyles before Sheriff Wood gets back from his vacation—presumably Monday.

Col. Stembler Wins An Eagle In AF Reserve

Announcement has been made by headquarters, USAF, of the promotion of Lt. Col. John H. Stembler, U.S. Air Force Reserve, to colonel in the reserve forces.

Col. Stembler of Atlanta, currently holds the assignment of group executive and training officer of the 9181st Air Reserve Group in Atlanta. He is a veteran of 20 years of active and reserve service in the Air Force.

Library Ends Year 6 Cents In the Black

The State library ended its fiscal year with a surplus of six cents, an official audit revealed Wednesday.

The audit, released by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr., showed the library ended the fiscal year June 30 with the nominal surplus providing a "necessary reserve of $507.98 to cover outstanding accounts . . . and reserving $3,524.82 for publishing court reports."

The library's appropriation last year was $38,500.

Other audit reports released Wednesday showed the State Law Department ended the fiscal year with a surplus of $3,526.43 after a total expenditure for the year of $352,237.20 compared to $332,896.18 the previous year.

The State Department of Banking showed a surplus of $9,651.62 after expenditures totaling $176-187.12, compared to $174,418.47 the previous year.

CONGRATULATES NEW LEATH-ERNECK CHIEF — WASHINGTON. Secretary of the Navy Franke congratulates Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup Wednesday on his being chosen by President Eisenhower to be the new commandant of the Marine Corps. The Medal of Honor winner will succeed Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, right, whose second two-year tour as commandant ends Dec. 31. The Senate must approve Shoup's nomination.

Ike Shuns Taft Law in Steel Tieup

(Copyright 1959, The New York Times Co.) NEW YORK—Invocation of the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act to end the national steel strike is still at least a month or six weeks away.

This word came from high federal officials Wednesday after President Eisenhower had re-affirmed his determination to keep hands off the dispute until the shortage of steel became acute enough to imperil the national welfare.

The start of the strike's fifth week brought word that David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, would return to mediation conferences here next Tuesday after a week's tour of picket lines.

The union issued a fresh call for appointment of a special fact-finding board to recommend settlement terms. Arthur J. Goldberg, its general counsel, asserted that use of a Taft-Hartley injunction to force the 500,000 strikers to return to their jobs would be "one-sided and ineffective."

needed hospitalization spotted him in the water. A half hour later a small boat from the Kittiwake put him safely aboard the Navy ship.

The sudden change in his outlook left Francesco almost speechless. He could say nothing but risonoscente—grateful. And that was directed mainly at Paul Gettle Jr., the member of the Kittiwake's crew who spotted him in the water.

Telling about it all through an interpreter Wednesday, the small, 33-year-old sailor from Naples said he'd never been able to swim more than a few minutes at a time although his life has been with the sea for 15 years. He said he spotted the Kittiwake 30 minutes before the rescue but was too busy keeping afloat to head toward it. The White River is well out on her course to Rotterdam with a cargo of coal. But Francesco may be back in Europe ahead of her. He probably will be flown home to Naples.

Discoverer V Delayed Anew

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE Base, Calif. (UPI)—Poor weather conditions Wednesday forced another postponement of the launching of the Discoverer V satellite, the Air Force announced.

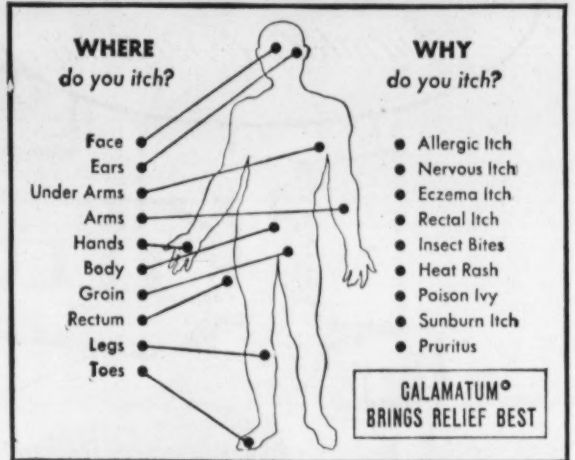

It was the second day in a row in which the shot had to be scrubbed. Originally, the Discoverer V was to be fired three weeks ago but technical and weather delays also caused delays at that time.

Ike to Put It On Line for Soviet Boss

try to divide the Western allies by creating the impression ahead of some secret deal in the making between the two powers.

It is the President's intention publicly to repudiate any such attempt and destroy the impression before it takes hold. He would refuse to listen if Khrushchev tries to argue his thesis for dividing the world into two spheres of influence dominated by the United States and Russia. If Khrushchev makes some concrete proposal the President's plan is to check with Britain, France and West Germany before giving his reaction.

Except for the promise of talking straight from the shoulder with Khrushchev, however, the President's news conference comments were calculated to produce the best possible climate for the visit that begins with the premier's arrival in Washington Sept. 15.

ATTACK STALEMATE

His chief purpose in inviting the Soviet leader's visit was to break the stalemate that has paralyzed East-West diplomacy since the end of the Korean war and with it, the hopelessness felt by so many people about ever achieving a durable peace with justice, the President said.

It was his great hope that Khrushchev could discover for himself what America really is and how Americans live, Eisenhower said. In this way the Soviet could get rid of many misconceptions about the nation and its people.

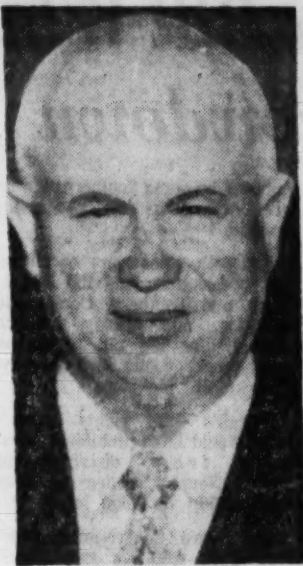

To this end, Eisenhower said, he would have Khrushchev take a ride in his own helicopter over suburban Washington and Levittown, Pa. and see for himself the thousands of modest but decent and comfortable homes occupied by government civil servants or the workmen at the Fairless plant of U.S. Steel Corp. on the Delaware River.

TO BACK UP SAMPLE

The President said he would have the premier see what such homes were like and understand that they were neither unusual nor exceptional, "as he seemed to think of the sample we sent over to Moscow."

"I would like to see him go into our great farmland and see our farmers, each one operating on his own, not regiments," the President added.

The President brushed aside

CARDS ON TABLE

a question whether he had devised any new criteria for his participation in a summit meeting. The test still was "progress that I can see as measurable progress," the President said.

The President has made it clear that without such progress there will be no summit meeting for him. But he is privately of the opinion that some such progress could come during his talks with Khrushchev next month. In that event it is at least conceivable that a meeting of heads of government on the Berlin crisis might be arranged without a preliminary meeting of foreign ministers, in the President's view.

It is the President's known intention during his talks with Khrushchev to create an opportunity for him to suggest some new idea at resolving the Berlin crisis.

The President is aware that Khrushchev recently suggested at a press conference that a Berlin settlement might be reached on the basis of an access corridor through East Germany to the West and under control of the federal republic of Germany.

Eisenhower does not know what Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may think of this Khrushchev formula or its quid pro quo, an ending of the West's occupation of the West Berlin area and a western guarantee against use of force to maintain its access there.

But the President is very much aware that the Soviet premier has called West Berlin's industrial prosperity "a bone in Russia's throat." He is no less determined, however, to make good the U.S. guarantee of the political freedom of West Berliners.

Police Clubs Rout 200 in Little Rock

It wavered and another boy ran up to help them.

Six girls, with their sodden dresses clinging to their bodies, sobbed and screamed. One yelled over and over, "Communists! Communists! Communists!"

After the first hosing, Smith told all students to move through the police line and go to school.

He waited 30 seconds and none moved.

"Hose 'em down," Smith directed. This time all the demonstrators but five teen-agers fell back half a block.

INSULTER CLUBBED

A youth wearing glasses shouted an insult to an officer then turned and ran with the officer in pursuit. He stopped and swung at the policeman but missed. The officer clubbed him with a nightstick and dragged him away with blood streaming down his face.

Three boys were arrested after nine tear gas bombs were found in their car parked near the Capitol.

Three Negro girls entered and departed from Hall High Wednesday morning with no reported incident as the high schools here reopened after a year of being shut by Gov. Faubus.

Central High, first desegregated in 1957 by federal troops, was integrated again Wednesday afternoon shortly after Police Chief Gene Smith's forces had beat down the segregationists' efforts to reach the school campus.

PRESS CAUGHT NAPPING

Two-thirds of the 100-man press corps was caught napping when a Negro boy and a Negro girl strolled down a side street and, with outward nonchalance, approached the Central High entrance where about 30 white students were lingering.

The white pupils, however, staged no demonstration upon either the arrival or departure two hours later by the Negroes, identified as Jefferson Thomas, 16, and Elizabeth Eckford, 17.

The Negroes left Central High in the midst of a scattering cluster of white pupils who pointedly ignored them.

"They're just looking right through them," one observer said.

Trailed by newsmen, who were forced by police to remain on the opposite side of the street, the two Negroes stopped on the corner of a sidewalk adjacent to the school.

There they waited for nearly 15 minutes before a motorcycle patrolman conferred with them and radioed for a taxi to pick the Negroes up. Ten minutes later, a taxi with a white driver pulled up, a policeman opened the door and the Negroes climbed into the back seat.

The cab sped away with a two-man police car trailing as the only escort.

"EVERYTHING FINE"

School Board President Everett Tucker Jr., at an impromptu sidewalk conference with newsmen, said that no anti-integration demonstrations had been staged inside either Central or Hall.

"Everything's just fine inside the school," board member Ted Lamb said. "Things are most routine."

School board members at a press conference said four white students had walked out of Central. They gave no reason. Two other students were taken to the principal's office by police.

ATTENDANCE OFF

Only 1,082 of Central's 1,436 students attended Wednesday and only 560 of the 720 registrants at Hall. School officials said the number absent was not significant and that attendance probably would pick up.

Chief Smith, patrolling the police line thrown up around Central High, was asked by a Constitution reporter if the officers would guard the school Thursday and Friday.

Smith merely shrugged and said, "It's possible."

A minor incident involving students occurred when a police captain grabbed a teen-age boy roughly by the shoulder and said: "YOU'RE THE ONE"

"... you're the one trying to stir up the crowd."

He ordered the boy turned over to the school's principal.

At police headquarters, officials said the two dozen persons arrested would be booked on various charges that included disturbing the peace, loitering, and resisting an officer.

A detective at the scene of the fight said the majority of the marchers were "out-of-city people" who had converged on Little Rock in caravans mostly from east Arkansas.

The violence near Central High erupted only minutes after Gov. Faubus urged a protesting crowd of about 500 segregationists:

"I see no reason for you to be beaten over the head today by the forces in the field, or jailed."

Waving Confederate flags and emitting Rebel war-whoops—while a sound truck blared forth with

"I'm Glad I Live in Dixie"—the demonstrators on the beautiful lawn in front of the state capitol listened to fire-eating denunciations of the Supreme Court and finally set up a persistent chant:

"We want Faubus, we want Faubus."

RENEWS APPEAL

Flanked by a half-dozen state troopers, Faubus strode through the capitol doorway, grabbed the microphone and boomed: "I'm glad to see you."

His remarks were in substance a repetition of his appeal for no "violence and disorder" which he had made the previous night in a surprise television appearance.

Among the sign carriers in the segregationist parade were the wife and three children of Arkansas Congressman Dale Alford.

A sign hoisted by Dale Jr. said: "Save our Constitution—follow Faubus." Mrs. Alford carried a sign warning: "Don't tread on me."

BATTLE IS JOINED

Seconds after Faubus left the scene, an unidentified, shirt-sleeved segregationist stepped to the mike and cried: "Now we want to peacefully assemble at Central High School."

He urged the crowd to "Let's make it an orderly march."

Although the crowd shrank to about 200 during the march, it was indeed a rather orderly assembly until the marchers came upon the battle lines drawn up by grim-faced police at an intersection two blocks from Central High.

The clash that followed was exactly what school board officials and lawmen had worked so carefully to avoid.

NEGROES ARRIVE

Board President Tucker had earlier voiced the hope that segregationists would heed Gov. Faubus' admonition "so that Little Rock may be spared the humiliations to which it has previously been subjected."

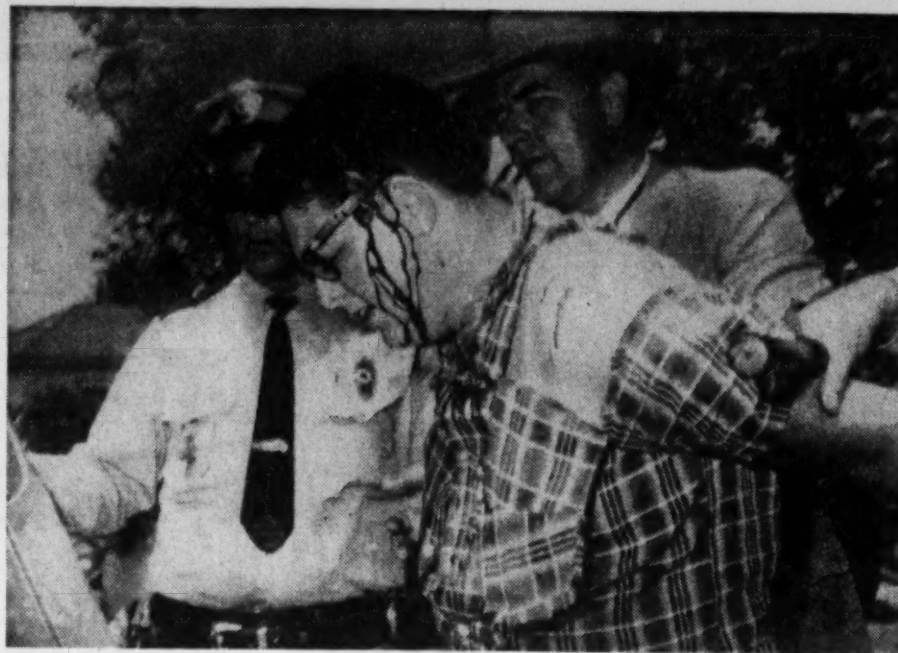

Chief Smith's sharply disciplined forces kept all traffic moving and precluded even the possibility of a crowd forming within a four-block area of the sprawling, modern Hall High plant.

The three Negro girls arrived in a yellow 1956 Chevrolet only five minutes before Hall High reopened. The girls were accompanied in the auto by three older Negro women.

"WITHOUT INCIDENT"

A uniformed officer immediately strode up to the trio of neatly dressed girls and demanded in an abrupt, rough voice: "What about you, girl, you got your pass?"

Without saying a word, the girls flashed their identification cards and walked abreast through the police lines toward the entrance of the two-year-old, $1,200,000 school facility in the heart of ritzy, all-white Pulaski Heights.

INJURED DEMONSTRATOR HUSTLED INTO PATROL WAGON BY POLICE

The girls—Effie Jones, 17; Elsie Robinson, 16, and Estella Thompson, 16—were met at the entrance by a white boy who handed them sheets of the same white-colored paper he had been passing out to all students.

Three minutes later, the final bell rang and Hall High was integrated without incident.

Griffin bill and the less stringent committee bill authored by Rep. Elliott (D-Ala.).

However, there were these two significant factors:

1. By overwhelmingly rejecting the Shelley bill, the House clearly showed it is in a mood to pass a stricter reform bill than the AFL-CIO or the teamsters union want.

DIRECT ATTACK

2. Since the Powell amendment obviously was a direct attack on the Landrum-Griffin bill, the GOP-southern Democratic show of strength against the amendment was impressive.

The 215 votes against the Powell rider was the only three votes shy of the majority Landrum needs to get his bill adopted on final showdown later this week. And 60 House members were absent in Wednesday's voting.

This is not a true test of Landrum-Griffin strength, however, since the Powell amendment was opposed by some Southerners who are backing the milder committee bill.

But both votes were encouraging to Landrum and the Republican and Southern Democratic coalition, and clearly indicate strength for the bill to outlaw secondary boycotts and so-called "blackmail" picketing.

Powell's civil rights amendment would have prohibited labor unions from discriminating against Negroes or denying them membership in union locals.

The Negro Congressman from New York said his amendment would "remove all elements of sham and hypocrisy" from the labor reform bills and charged the Landrum-Griffin labor bill of rights as being an "exercise in deception."

Landrum retorted:

"We do not seek in any way, shape or form, to tell labor unions of this country who they should admit to their unions," Landrum said. "We do say that every member should have equal rights within that labor organization.

"We merely say that if you bring a man into a union and take his dues and govern his right to work, you must give him equal rights."

"ABUSE AND CORRUPT"

In offering his bill as a substitute, Landrum told the House the issue is "Shall we remove from the hands of those who would abuse and corrupt the great labor movement in America the weapons with which they have done it and will continue to do it?"

But opponents, like Rep. Bailey (D-W. Va.), charged the Landrum-Griffin bill would "crucify labor" and set labor's cause "back generations." He chided Southerners for allying themselves with Republicans "who will use you today and deny you tomorrow."

Rep. Weir (D-Minn) charged the Landrum bill would mean the "destruction of small unions" and would force them into the larger, stronger unions and "won't hurt Hoffa at all."

Rabies Dips Sharply In Fulton

5 Free Clinics Are Scheduled

A schedule of five more free rabies clinics was announced by the Fulton County Health Department Wednesday along with a report that rabies has subsided considerably.

The schedule of clinics for free vaccination of dogs follows:

Peoples Street School, 589 Peoples St., SW, Aug. 15, 2 to 5 p.m.

Cascade Heights School, 2326 Venetian Dr., SW, Aug. 18, 1 to 4 p.m.

W. F. Hardnett School, 1401 Bridge Ave., SW, Aug. 22, 2 to 5 p.m.

Home Park School, 1031 State St., NW, Aug. 25, 1 to 4 p.m.

Howell Mill Health Center, 824 White St., NW, Aug. 29, 2 to 5 p.m.

Dr. J. A. Giddens, director of veterinary medical service of the health department, reported a decrease in rabies cases.

He said that as recently as two months ago, Fulton County had an average of three rabies cases every two weeks. The rate now is one a month, he said.

Dr. Giddens reported that more than 10,000 dogs have been vaccinated since the health department began its free clinics earlier this year. Fifteen clinics have been held so far.

He said additional clinics are planned for the fall.

"We hope to have more than 40,000 dogs vaccinated, including those vaccinated in veterinary hospitals, by the time the last clinic is held," Dr. Giddens said.

God Gives Us Grace To Forgive

QUESTION: If someone deeply hurts you and never expressed any regret or asks forgiveness, is it a Christian duty to forgive that one? To truly forgive, must we forget?—L. A.

ANSWER: Forgiveness is a Christian virtue which our Lord expects from us and for which He gives the necessary grace and power. To forgive those who have wronged us is so very important that it is mentioned in the Lord's Prayer. Christ also expects us to confess our sins to others where we have involved them, or wronged them, and to ask forgiveness.

If some one has wronged us we should forgive them regardless of whether they acknowledge the wrong or ask our pardon. This is an exercise of Christian love and forbearance. It may not always be possible for us to forget the wrongs others have done us but when the love of Christ possesses our hearts, these wrongs seem so insignificant and our love for the other person completely changes our attitude to that one. I know of people who have had a deep sense of being wronged. As they have thought of this and prayed about it they have often discovered that they themselves were also at fault and, in asking for forgiveness, they have gotten peace and victory in their own hearts.

GET BACK ON SCHEDULE

Millions of people have found a safe way to correct constipation caused by lack of bulk. It's the Kellogg's All-Bran way—and it works even when harsh laxative drugs have failed.

You see, laxative drugs contain no bulk and can do nothing to correct the cause of the trouble. Kellogg's All-Bran, on the other hand, is a whole bran cereal and bran is nature's best bulk-forming food. A half-cup serving of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk gives you all the good food bulk needed for consistent daily regularity.

Try eating good-tasting Kellogg's All-Bran for 10 days and see if it doesn't work for you, too.

Edenfield to Lead in Dedication Of New Court Building Sept. 21

Dedication ceremonies for the new Fulton Civil-Criminal Court building next door to the courthouse have been scheduled for 11 a.m. Sept. 21.

Atlanta attorney Newell Edenfield, president of the Georgia Bar Assn., will give the dedicatory address.

A key to the new building, which will house civil and criminal courts and related offices and the Adult Probation Office, will be turned over to Chief Civil Court Judge J. Wilson Parker by the County Commission.

Also taking part in the program will be Chairman Ben Massell of the Citizens Bond Commission, which planned the 1957 county bond issue building projects, and A. C. Latimer, chairman of the present courthouse remodeling committee.

Others on the program will include President Robert W. Crenshaw Jr. of the Atlanta Lawyers' Club; President Asa W. Candler of the Atlanta Bar Assn.; Bishop Arthur J. Moore; A. Thomas Bradbury, the building's architect; and representatives of Daniel Construction Co. of Alabama, the building contractor.

The ceremony will be held in the ground floor courtroom to be occupied by Criminal Court Judge Charles G. Bruce.

A guided tour of the building will follow the program.

Antique Auto Outing Sunday

The Horseless Carriage Club and the Antique Automobile Club will have their annual watermelon outing at Austin Abbot's "Honeymoon Cottage" Sunday. The outing will begin at 3 p.m. at the cottage at 830 Heard's Ferry Rd., NW.

College Park's Power Rate Cut

College Park's electricity rate will drop 10 per cent effective October 1, City Manager Ridley Nichol reported.

He said the city's rate will then be the same as the retail rate of the Georgia Power Co., which sells power to the city wholesale.

Now at your store — the strongest aluminum foil of all!

BRAND "X" RIPS, FALLS APART! You can see for yourself what happens when three metal balls of equal weight are dropped on the three leading brands of aluminum foil. This dramatic demonstration was developed in the laboratories of the United States Testing Co.

BRAND "Y" SPLITS, TOO! As you can see, this well-known brand of aluminum foil just can't take punishment. The metal ball drops right through. No wonder this foil rips so easily when you wrap it around a roast, seems to fall apart when you use it for storing leftovers.

NEW SUPER-STRENGTH ALCOA WRAP STILL INTACT. There's not a sign of a rip as the metal ball bounces harmlessly away. Thanks to a brand-new alloy, New Alcoa® Wrap resists ripping and bursting as no other foil does—another outstanding example of pioneering research and development by Alcoa.

Milledgeville Plan Ready

said the full commission "is almost sure" to accept the proposal at its meeting Thursday afternoon.

Most members of the commission support the idea of "letting the hospital stay where it is", he said.

A number of subcommittee meetings were scheduled for Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. They were not open to the press, however.

The governor, at a news conference a few weeks ago, said he sees no reason to set up a separate department for administering the hospital "as long as the Health department is making progress".

The Health department came under rather sharp criticism last week from a member of a joint legislative committee studying operation of the hospital.

Rep. Chandler — of Baldwin County where the hospital is located — said the Health department hasn't done enough to correct "deplorable" sanitary conditions at the institution.

Vandiver's Mental Board Asks Transfer Of Gracewood, Prods Grady for Ward

By JACK NELSON

Transfer of the Georgia Training School for Mental Defectives at Gracewood from the Welfare Department to the State Health Department was recommended Wednesday by Gov. Vandiver's Advisory Committee on Mental Institutions.

The committee also called on the Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority to take some action toward activating the Grady Hospital psychiatric ward.

Several committee members and Health Department officials blasted the authority for failing to take positive steps to activate the ward and bring it under the Health Department's intensive treatment program.

Peyton Hawes, committee member and president of the Georgia Assn. for Mental Health, accused the authority of "indifference" to problems of mental health. "They are putting the question on a pure dollar basis without regard for any humanitarian feeling," he declared.

The committee also received a written proposal for reorganization of the health department. It was presented by John Moore, secretary, and obviously carried the support of Dr. William Rottersman, chairman.

The committee delayed discussion and action on the Moore proposal, which called for a bill at the 1960 General Assembly to provide two equal divisions—one for public health and one for mental health—within a Department of Health. Each division would be governed by a separate four-man board. The combined boards, plus an appointee at large named by the governor, would comprise a general board to govern the entire department.

Speaking briefly on the proposal, Dr. Rottersman pointed out that none of the 14 members of the State Board of Health is a psychiatrist and that all of the board members were appointed before the Health Department assumed its new duties of administering the mental health program.

The committee endorsed a report by Dr. E. James McCranie recommending that the Gracewood institution be transferred to the Health Department. Transfer of Milledgeville State Hospital from the Welfare to the Health Department was ordered by Gov. Vandiver last April on the day this action was recommended by the Schaefer Committee.

Gov. Vandiver's Economy and Reorganization Commission had requested that the advisory committee counsel it on the future of the Gracewood school.

Dr. McCranie's report noted that Dr. Norman Pursley, superintendent of the school, "is an able and vigorous administrator who has been able to obtain good support from the Welfare Department."

"I do not feel that the transfer of the school would create any disruptive personnel problems," Dr. McCranie reported. "It is my impression that the local training school administration would welcome such a transfer as a long-term benefit if it could be done efficiently and without political implications."

Dr. McCranie said the school has a good general medical program, but "a major shortcoming has been the lack of psychiatric service."

Dr. T. F. Sellers, Health department director, and Dr. Bernard Holland, committee member and chairman of the Emory University Department of Psychiatry, said the department and Emory were ready to activate the Grady psychiatric ward as soon as hospital officials can come to some agreement.

Dr. Sellers said negotiations with Grady officials had been "very discouraging."

Dr. Holland said that while hospital officials complain of not having funds for the psychiatric ward, they use a bookkeeping "gimmick" of setting up a $750,000 annual building depreciation reserve "to always show a loss."

Hawes said committee members "are going to have to sit down and shell the corn with Fred." The former state senator, speaking the jargon of a Georgia legislator, meant the committee should discuss the issue with Fred Turner, hospital authority chairman.

The committee voted to support a public fund drive to raise a minimum of $250,000 for a chapel at Milledgeville State Hospital. Dr. Louie Newton was named chairman of a subcommittee to help organize the drive.

Airlift Victims' Kin Get W. Berlin Gifts

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners have donated $380,000 to express their gratitude for the 1948-49 allied airlift that defeated the Soviet road blockade. The money will finance scholarships for children and relatives of the 71 British and American airmen killed in the airlift.

Body of Mableton Boy, 15, Recovered from Cobb Lake

MARIETTA (AP)—The body of a 15-year-old Mableton boy who drowned Tuesday in Jett's Lake was recovered Wednesday.

The body of James Louis Payne Jr. was recovered by rescue units after an overturned boat was found near the bank of the lake in south Cobb County.

The boy and his grandfather, L. M. Payne, went to the lake Tuesday. The grandfather reported he went on an errand and the boy was missing when he returned.

LANDSLIDE TOPPLES HOMES—SANTA MONICA, Calif.—Two $50,000 homes were reduced to rubble Wednesday in nearby Pacific Palisades as the result of a landslide. They were located at the top of a 200-foot cliff which began to crumble during the night. Later the houses toppled into a 15-foot crevice. A similar fate threatens a newly completed home which was sold last week.

Youths Torture, Kill Rare Birds

CHICAGO (UPI)—Nine rare birds were found tortured, stabbed and beaten to death in their nests Wednesday at Lincoln Park Zoo.

Zoo Director Marlin Perkins blamed "wanton, vicious killers . . . with very sick minds."

Police began a search for a 19-year-old boy and his friends who were arrested in September for sneaking into the zoo and killing seven birds.

Perkins said the latest victims were stabbed during the night with sharp instruments and clubbed to death.

Slain were three wild turkeys from Texas, two demosselle cranes from India, a pair of crowned cranes from Africa, a hutchins goose, and a rosy billed duck from South America. They were valued at a total of $1,300.

Castro Flies To Mop-Up Of Rebels

By HAROLD MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro flew Wednesday to Las Villas province, where authorities said a band of counter-revolutionaries was encircled by revolutionary government troops.

Reports reaching Havana later said a number of fugitives had surrendered including several persons "of considerable importance." Their identity or other details were not available immediately.

TRIP UNEXPECTED

Castro's trip to Cienfuegos, 140 miles southeast of Havana, was unexpected. On reaching the city, he boarded a helicopter, apparently to fly to the mountainous area between Cienfuegos and the town of Trinidad where the operation was said to center.

Castro was accompanied by Caviro Cienfuegos, army commander-in-chief, and Celia Sanchez, Castro's secretary.

New suspects were run through police interrogations, meanwhile, as Castro's forces continued what they called mopping-up against an antigovernment conspiracy. Pickup Type.

CAPTIVES RELEASED

A number of prisoners were released in Havana. Elsewhere more arrests were reported. There was no firm estimate of the total caught in the dragnet, although Castro's brother Raul, commander in chief of the armed forces, said over the weekend it was 3,000.

Informed sources said most of those released were members of Castro's own armed forces. Dispatches from the provinces meanwhile reported 30 arrests in Pinar Del Rio, more than 150 in Cienfuegos in Las Villas and more than 100 in Santa Clara.

Quake Jolts Alabama and Tennessee

From Press Dispatches
HUNTSVILLE, Ala.—Earth tremors shook parts of northern Alabama and southern Tennessee shortly after noon Wednesday but caused no damage.

Shocks were felt over most of Giles and Lincoln counties in Tennessee and in Huntsville.

The Rev. Louis Eisele, director of the seismograph station at Spring Hill College, Mobile, Ala., described the quake as minor, affecting a radius of about 40 miles. The quake was recorded by the Spring Hill seismograph.

The quake was believed at first to be an explosion or a missile test at nearby Redstone Arsenal, sending many from their homes and buildings into the streets in search of the disturbance.

Eisele said, "Huntsville is in a region that has been weakly active for a number of years and will have little earthquakes once in a while." He said that these quakes release pressures that could build up into a larger quake.

Ancient Sceptre Stolen in Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — A 3,000-year-old gold-plated sceptre has been stolen from the Cairo Museum, it was reported Wednesday.

It belonged to the ancient Pharaoh Tutankhamen and contained hieroglyphic writing promising "he who carries this sceptre has the blessing of God Amun and walks under His guidance."

A museum spokesman said the sceptre, nearly five feet long, could not be valued because of its historical significance.

ABA Panel Defends Supreme Court

(Copyright 1959, The New York Times Co.)

CHICAGO—The Committee on the Bill of Rights of the American Bar Assn. has come to the defense of the Supreme Court. In so doing, it attacked the action last February of the 248-member House of Delegates, the Association's policy-making body.

The new report, observers believe, will reopen a deep split between the conservative and liberal wings of the organization.

The issue is the Supreme Court's decisions in national and state security cases, especially those dealing with Communist activities.

The House of Delegates at its Chicago meeting in February adopted, after a bitter debate, a resolution prepared by another panel—the Committee on Communist Tactics, Strategy and Objectives.

The adopted resolution called for congressional action to amend, in effect, the Supreme Court's decisions in the subversion field.

The resolution said that these decisions had been branded "unsound" and had been "severely criticized" by "many responsible authorities."

In a 10,000-word report that was mailed to members of the House of Delegates, the Committee on the Bill of Rights said:

"On balance, this committee is unable to see any indication that the security of the nation or the states has been impaired by the Supreme Court."

The report was signed by Joseph Harrison, a Newark (N.J.) lawyer, as chairman, and five others on the seven-man committee. The seventh member, J. Cleo Thompson of Dallas, a former president of the Dallas Bar Association, dissented.

Thompson said:

"I think it is not within the province of the Bill of Rights committee to attack in this devious manner the action of the House of Delegates."

Thompson represents a strong and vocal group within the association, and the report portends another vigorous debate when the House of Delegates meets Aug. 24-28 in Miami Beach.

THE LIQUOR THAT CAME OUT OF NOWHERE...BUT IS EVERYWHERE TODAY!

"What started you drinking vodka?"
"Smirnoff Vodka—what else!"

Ten years ago, only 1 American in 1000 had ever tasted vodka. Today, almost everyone who drinks at all likes vodka . . . and wants Smirnoff! Why? It all began when people discovered—in smooth, flawless Smirnoff—a welcome change from ordinary liquors. For here was a new and different drink—with no liquor taste or "breath." When you order, insist on Smirnoff. And let nobody tell you all vodkas are the same!

India Warship Fails To Refloat U.S. Ship

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The Indian destroyer Rana tried but failed Wednesday to refloat the 10,645-ton American tanker National Peace. Severe monsoon conditions could set in soon.

Earlier, the Rana removed all 37 crew members from one of the Laccadive Islands where the Tanker went aground Monday night. The National Peace was headed from the Persian Gulf to Manila. Some of her crew members are from Tampa, Fla.

We Hunted Subs Off Florida Coast

What would happen if a Soviet submarine were sighted off our coast? It is known that Red subs operate in Atlantic waters, therefore the Antisubmarine Defense Force conducts surveillance operations over a large part of the Western Atlantic. William Hammack of The Atlanta Journal and Constitution Magazine staff joined a typical patrol bomber crew from Jacksonville's Naval Air Station to find out what it is like to go sub hunting. Read his eye witness account in the Sunday, August 16th, issue of The Atlanta Journal and Constitution Magazine.

Atlanta Ranks High For Purity of Its Air

By HAROLD MARTIN JR.

Atlantans are pretty clean living people, judging by the amount of air pollution here.

Atlanta's air contamination picture is good over-all, but there has been some increase in the downtown areas due to expressway clearing and urban renewal projects.

"I think we will compare favorably with any other city," said William E. Tidmore, city air pollution control officer.

Tidmore said the city has relaxed its regulations on trash burning so that refuse from expressways and urban renewal projects could be cleared. However, this burning must still be cleared with the Fire Department on a day-to-day basis and can be stopped if there are complaints from residents.

This clearing has caused air pollution to increase in the immediate vicinity of the burning, but Tidmore added that he does not think people outside the area notice any difference.

The amount of air pollution here has dropped since World War II, he said, since a lot of coal-burning installations have been removed from the downtown areas.

Atlanta is one of eight cities that have been tested by the U.S. Public Health Service for air pollution for several years. No definite figures on how Atlanta compared to the other cities were available.

Dr. Leroy E. Burney, surgeon general, said there is a suspected relationship between air pollution and respiratory diseases, particularly cancer. However, there has been no scientific proof as yet, he added.

There has been an estimated 75 per cent drop in the amount of visible air pollution in Atlanta since the last world war, Tidmore said.

Visible air pollution, he explained, means smoke and soot that come from machinery and industry. It is visible to the eye and can be measured in solid fallout.

Tidmore pointed out that a city ordinance forbids anybody from burning trash or refuse outside a building without special permission from the Fire Department.

Despite this, he said, there is an increase in air pollution during the fall due to burning leaves.

He said the city urges residents to let the city cart away their trash and burn it.

Atlanta has a collection system that is "as good as the best," he said, and the best incinerator system in the country.

Atlanta is the only city that uses the waste to provide revenue, he said. The burning trash is used to create steam, which is sold to the Georgia Power Co. Tin cans are sold as scrap metal.

From this the city gets about $300,000 a year and sometimes more, depending on scrap metal prices, he commented.

Austria has 132 schools where special care is provided for handicapped children.

Classic Plays to Come Alive for Students

Last year Georgia high school students would leave an English class in Shakespeare with the comment, "Man, I just don't dig that square jive!"

This year the State Department of Education, through the use of films, will try to make Shakespeare's plays live again as drama, rather than as shelf-space sitters in the dustiest corner of the library.

And not just Shakespeare: the first three of a series of humanities films the state has purchased are Shakespeare's "Hamlet," Sophocles' "Oedipus," and Thornton Wilder's modern play, "Our Town." The English students who see them will be sitting in on literature classes taught by some of the nation's greatest teachers of the classics.

Last year the department bought prints of the nationally famous half-hour physics and chemistry films, taught by California's Dr. Harvey White and by Florida's Dr. John Baxter. To balance the science films, the department is adding great films that teach the humanities.

According to Garland Bagley, director of the department's film library, the new films are expected to give the same impetus to Georgia's literature classes that physics and chemistry films did to the classes in science.

The Hamlet series, which, like the others, is in four parts, is taught by Maynard Mack, professor of English at Yale University. Another Yale professor, Bernard M. W. Knox, teaches Oedipus. Clifton Fadiman, theater and book critic, handles the modern Our Town.

The films are in color and take the student back to the times in which they were presented in the case of Hamlet and Oedipus. The Hamlet film starts off with an explanation of the Elizabethan theater and how it fit the folkways of its time.

In Oedipus, the film starts with an explanation of the first awakening of man's mind to the philosophy that his intellect made him the "center" of the universe.

Capable actors enact the dramas and narration is in language easily understood by high school students.

Food Grows Prolifically on Trees in Panama

PANAMA CITY (AP)—It's hard to go hungry in a land where bread grows on trees, 30-pound rabbits roam tropical jungles, and fish and shrimp beg to be caught in not one but two nearby oceans.

Furthermore, one tree in Panama is so prolific it grows both nuts and fruit.

The tree which provides bread, of course, is the bread-fruit tree. It is often 60 feet tall, produces a brownish-green fruit up to eight inches in diameter. It can live alone and like it—it grows both male and female flowers.

Pulp of the fruit is eaten while mealy, and has a consistency between bread and sweet potatoes. It is usually boiled, or baked in ovens. Sometimes it is cut and fried. Primitives cook it over hot stones, covered with leaves.

Originally from the Malayan Archipelago, the tree is said to have been introduced to the new world by Capt. William Bligh of "The Bounty" fame. It now grows wild in Panama.

The cashew nut is imported into the United States by the millions of pounds.

Rise in Student Marriages Adds to College's Problems

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N.Y.—The upswing in marriages among college students has led to problems both in classroom and home, educators said today.

They didn't oppose the early marriages, but they said colleges needed to do something about the difficulties arising from them.

The situation was analyzed by numerous speakers at a meeting of the council for the advancement of small colleges at the King's College here. About 200 college representatives are attending.

Dr. Russell Cooper of the General College, University of Minnesota, said married students represent 10 to 25 per cent of the student body at most co-educational colleges.

Most of them are males, he said, the wives having left school to support their husbands after one or two years of college, thus creating a widening intellectual gap between husband and wife.

This, in turn, often results in disunity of family, frustration, long-term dissatisfaction and often deflects the husband's education, Dr. Cooper said.

Dr. Marjorie Carpenter of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., said the college marriages often lead to a level of educational mediocrity both for husband and wife.

Not only does the wife drop out of college, she said, but the husband often gives up his plans for graduate or professional education because he has to support his family.

Declaring colleges must find means to cope with the circumstances, Dr. Theodore Distler, executive secretary of the American College Assn., said:

"If a college accepts responsibility for single students, then it must accept equal responsibility for a student and his family."

Cake You Bake Can Reveal a Lot About You

CHICAGO (AP)—A woman is known by the cake she bakes, says a producer of a cake mix.

Psychologists were called on a "reading" survey to see how three types of women reacted when handed a box of mix and told to make any of the four recipes on the box or invent her own.

The chic group unexpectedly proved to be "kitchen types" and baked fancy cakes. They made pastries richly filled with nuts and raisins, poppy seeds, cheese or fruit, topped with frosting.

The non-glamorous group included wholesome "American girl" types and older women. All but four of the 15 in the group made plain cakes, with or without topping.

In the group of "neat Nellies," 11 of them turned out fancy but less creative cakes than those of the chic sophisticates.

The group of women whose common characteristic was fastidious housekeeping favored gooey pecan rolls, made with scarcely a departure from package directions, but they out-ranked the others in quick cleanup action.

Time Marches On In Varied Styles

By RAYMONDE ALEXANDER

Constitution Fashion Editor

Time marches on and the press visiting New York recently was shown some new angles on it by the watchmakers of Switzerland.

For the men there is news on time in watches that take the beat of the pulse, light up in the dark, measure distances on maps in miles and kilometers.

For the women watches are "flowering," coiling around the wrist, looking like envelopes, being fitted in $20 gold pieces, and lighting on lapels. To top them all, there's a moonphase watch for the first time for women. Just in case the lady is a fisherman, it tells the phases of the moon and measures the tides.

Asymmetrical styles are the newest dress for timepieces and, whether you're off-beat or conformist, this off-center position is going to give you a totally different slant on time. For instance, dials are placed at angles inside the usually rectangular and circular cases. Watch cases themselves go "off-sides" in shapes inspired by modern architectural design. Sometimes the watch case is placed at an extraordinary angle on the watch strap and even the cases are coming curved or angular in design.

Typical of this for men are the horseshoe-shaped watch, the parallelogram watch, the lasso loop watch and the traditionally round watch that's set far over the side of the strap. In women's styles a circle appears within a circle or gold bars ornament the strap on one side only.

Some of the news for women time watchers comes from the Far Eastern influence which is also being noticed in home furnishings and fashions. With an exotic flair of the Orient are massive gold bracelet watches reminiscent of the ankle bracelets of slave days. The "flowering" variety are fashioned into tulips, and daisies with sapphires, rubies, and emeralds added. These usually have the dial covered to make the watch appear as a precious jewel.

Men's watches are getting thinner in everyday styling as well as dress watches. Colorful dials, new pocket watches, and the ring watch for men also mark style changes. And as if pulse-taking watches and map readers weren't intriguing enough, there's the parking meter watch. The dial features half hour, hour and two-hour markers and an alarm rings to alert the driver to return to his parked car. Then there's the wrist navigator that can do everything but fly the plane. The ring watches are usually insignia rings, lodge, fraternity, school, with the watch cleverly engineered inside.

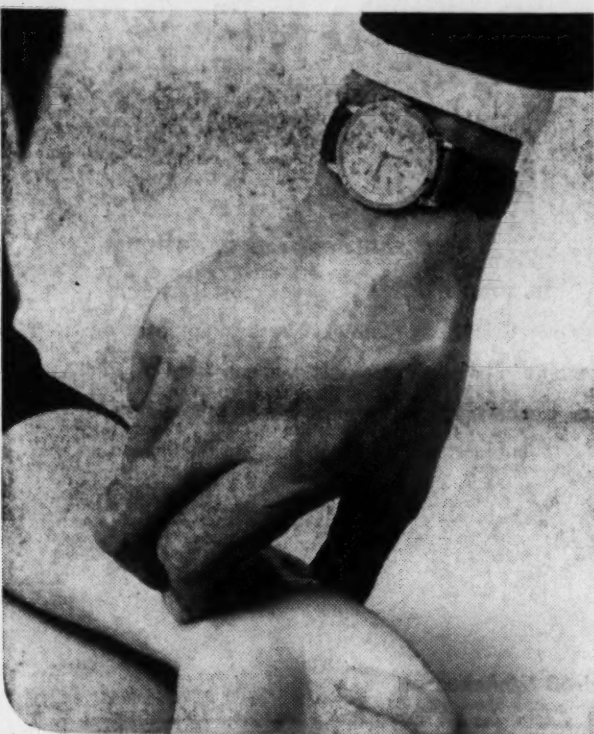

With all the new styling, the emphasis is still placed on the mastery of quality watchmaking.

Tobe Says

Casual Dress To Wear Now

By the time late August comes around our summer clothes are usually on their last legs after struggling with heat and humidity. Most women want a new dress at least, but some are hesitant to start wearing real fall clothes as early as this.

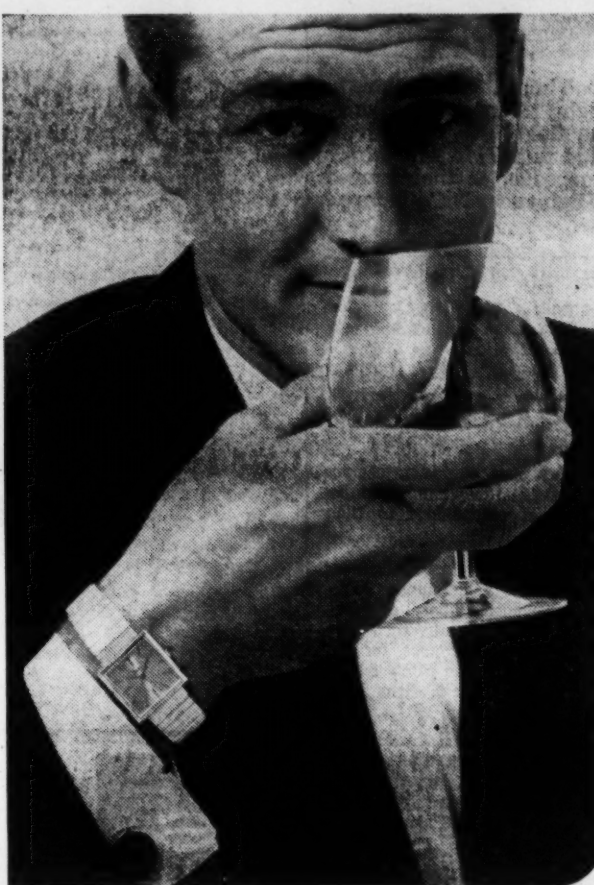

A perfect compromise choice is a soft casual dress in a paisley printed silk and in a darkish color, soft brown, dull antique red, green, or blue. It may be a traditional shirtwaist dress; or have a collarless cardigan neckline; or even one of the new bias cut tops with kimono sleeves. These look new and decidedly fallish, yet are cool enough for late summer heat.

Annie Lou Hardy Virginia Hospitality Awaits Atlantans At Gregg-Smith Wedding in Orange

Atlantans journeying to Orange, Va., early in September for the wedding of pretty Mary Allen Gregg to the Rev. John Cutler Smith of New York, son of Gen. and Mrs. Edward W. Smith, will find famed Virginia hospitality at its most gracious.

Wedding invitations arriving in Atlanta last week not only contained cards for the reception at Grelen, the country home of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Will Reeves Gregg, near Orange, but also cards inviting all guests from a distance to be Mrs. Gregg's guests overnight. In addition there was a map of that section of Virginia, indicating just how to reach Orange and Grelen.

The ceremony is set for 4:30 o'clock on Saturday, Sept. 5, at St. Thomas' Church in Orange, with a reception afterward at Grelen, the nuptials to be preceded by a whole series of parties in honor of the bridal couple.

Gen. and Mrs. Smith plan to leave Aug. 31 to drive to Virginia. They will be guests during their stay at the Farmington Country Club, Charlottesville, where they will entertain at a rehearsal dinner for their son and his fiancée on Sept. 4.

Joining the Smiths in time for the final festivities will be their son, Edward C. Smith, who will be his brother's best man, and Mrs. Smith. They will be guests of Mrs. Gray Dunnington at her historic old home, Montebello, near Orange. Mrs. Dunnington's son, Walter Dunnington Jr., roomed with Mr. Smith at graduate school at the University of Virginia, and he and his wife will come from New York for the wedding.

Also joining the Atlantans for the occasion will be Dr. L. Minor Blackford of Atlanta, Gen. Smith's mother, Mrs. J. Madden Smith of Memphis; his cousins, the Mortimer Leighs of Milwaukee, and a group of friends from Mississippi. Coming with Mr. and Mrs. Leigh will be their daughters, Mrs. Albert J. Tower of New York and Mrs. William K. Johnson of Chicago, and their husbands.

Friends of the Smith family met Allen and her mother when they were here for a visit in the spring, during which Mrs. Smith entertained several hundred guests at tea in their honor.

A DANISH visitor expected this week is Mrs. Johan Bensen of Copenhagen who arrives on Saturday to visit her cousins,

Mr. and Mrs. R. Jack Thiesen at their Inman Circle residence.

Mrs. Bensen, the former Catherine Thiesen of Copenhagen, will come here from Pensacola where she is now the guest of other cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Royston Cabaniss. She was in Atlanta for a visit to the Thiesens many years ago. Her week's stay will be marked with a series of informal parties.

JUST HOME from a wonderful three weeks in Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawley and their daughters, Isabel and Cator Ballenger. The foursome spent the first two weeks at Lido Beach, Sarasota, where they were guests at Azure Tides, before crossing the state to Ponte Vedra.

For the past week the Atlantans were guests at Ponte Vedra Inn where among their fellow guests were those former Atlantans, Mr. and Mrs. William Nixon of Thomaston. Isabel, incidentally, was named winner in one of the dance contests planned for members of the younger set at the Inn.

THE WARD WIGHTS JR. are off tomorrow for Linville, N.C., to pick up their son, Ward III, who has been at Camp Yonahkaka for the summer, and bring him home.

CHATTANOOGANS who have recently become Atlanta residents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam A. Keith and their sons, Terry and Roddey, who are now settled at 475 Forest Hills Dr., N.E. Mr. Keith was transferred here by the Southern Wood Preserving Company.

Career Girl

Your Voice Can Tell Too Much About You

By JUNE WILSON

"All women talk too much." This is accepted fact. "That means it is 'accepted' by women for lack of choice, and 'fact' to the men who do so revel in repeating it. In defense of everyone, though—that some women speak at all is dire punishment. It is not so much what they talk about and the volumes of which they are capable as, deliver us all, HOW they say it!

Long before Solomon had his say about a soft answer, men commented on the desirable in a woman's voice. And after Solomon Lord Byron declared that the "Devil hath not in all his quiver's choice, an arrow for the heart like a sweet voice." The hard added that a voice ever soft, gentle and low was an "excellent" thing in woman.

It is an indictment in itself that the recorded comments are all male. Women are too busy talking to anatomize. And this is a costly mistake.

Did you not know that, perish forbid, the voice is a fairly reliable index to a woman's age?

In the business world, as perhaps no other except that of entertainment, is the voice of a woman so quickly pegged as an asset or distinct disability. It is possible to disguise figure faults and make a lily from a gourd blossom, but the voice may doom it all by its own disfigurement.

A man recently had this to say of the girls at a small town wedding: "I had never seen so many pretty girls in one room. And when they opened their mouths, I wondered why I had thought them attractive."

And there is the story of a quite real top-ranking executive whose secretary, with time to spare, would sit and chatter by telephone to her women friends. He did not mind the personal calls, but complained to his masculine chums that, "Her voice irritates me and when she laughs it is a witch's cackle." And he took his hat and left until another deluge of work descended to occupy her again.

The voice is a continuing index to the state of the mind. That is where it begins. And what occupies the mind is what is made welcome there. If the Career Girl lets annoyance in, regardless of the most serene words, her voice will reflect annoyance. If she lets in critical thoughts, uncritical words will emerge as sarcasm, and if she is so lax as to fall into a jealous mood, it will be a day for the wearin'-of-the-green.

Listen with both ears for a single day to everyone you meet. It will astonish you what there is to be heard above, below, around and aside from words alone. To listen a WHOLE day is a difficult assignment for any woman. But, courage! You will learn something and it may help you keep your birthdate top secret. This is worth of sacrifice.

And there is hope for hapless voices. First, think . . . it's all in your head. You may reproduce at will any sound registered in the brain. Then, register a LOW pitch, and speak from the chest. Use your lips, teeth and palate, and see that your meaning is instantly clear. You do not need to be a misunderstood woman. For women, even silent, are complicated enough.

Improve your voice so that when you hear the phrase "Hanging on every word" it will mean what it was meant to mean, not a suicide attempt.

Miss Shirley Ann Calton To Marry Airman Seivers

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Calton of Marietta announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Ann Calton, to Airman Gary Seivers, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Seivers of Winston-Salem, N.C.

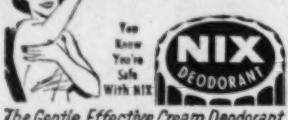

The couple plans to be married on Sept. 3 at the base chapel at Dobbins Air Force Base.

Following her graduation from Marietta High School, Miss Calton attended Massey Business College. She was a member of Future Business Leaders of America, the glee club, the mixed choir and the music club at high school.

Airman Seivers was graduated in 1957 from Wakerstown High School, where he played football, basketball and baseball, was president of Hi-Y and sports editor of the school paper. He was a member of the glee club, mixed choir and the "W" Club. The future bridegroom is now on duty with the U.S. Air Force at Dobbins Air Base.

HOW TO STOP THE CAUSE OF HEAT RASH

Mexsana helps prevent and relieve this itchy discomfort 4 ways:

When hot, humid weather and skin moisture cause heat rash and chafe... the itching, burning torment can be unbearable. Mexsana Medicated Powder is 4 ways best for summer rashes. (1) Of all leading powders, only Mexsana has an exclusively starch base. It's extra absorbent... dries up excess moisture that "waterlogs" and irritates the skin. (2) Mexsana is not irritatingly alkaline like talcum... is extra soothing to sensitive skin. (3) Mexsana clings closer to skin... gives better protection against chafing. (4) Contains hexachlorophene and other healing medication... it kills germs, destroys harmful odor-forming bacteria. At all drug counters. Save on large size.

Beat the heat! Shake on Mexsana before dressing. You'll feel comfortable even in hottest weather.

BEAUTY NEWS! Mexsana Medicated Skin Cream clears dry, roughened, "summertime skin". Only leading medicated cream that contains lanolin.

Teen Girl Flew Co-Pilot In Cross-Country Derby

By HELEN HERD
As Told to Harriette Weinstein
My aunt was supposed to get a co-pilot in Texas for the Powder Puff Derby. But the co-pilot couldn't go. So she asked me.

I was one of the youngest girls ever to fly in the race, I'm 17.

I'd flown a little. But I had one month to learn to navigate the plane from Massachusetts to Spokane, Wash. I learned more in that one month than I'd ever learned before.

My aunt is one of the top women pilots in the country (Margaret Callaway). I had no idea of the mental strain I'd be under in the race.

SECONDS COUNTED

Every second we were in the air counted. We'd pull into an airport, taxi up to the time-

No story is more exciting or more touching than the real life "adventures in living." And these adventures are best told by you, the person who lived them.

We would like to hear your story. Send it to Harriette Weinstein, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta 2, Ga.

This series, "Adventures in Living," will continue in the daily Constitution.

clock and I'd hop out of the plane to punch the clock before the plane would reach a full stop.

You have to move fast. That's why most of the co-pilots are young.

We ran into a thunderstorm, usually nothing to worry about. But if we tried to go around it we ran the risk of hitting some mountains. Then our engine started missing. So we followed the highway back to an emergency field.

Our left magneto was stripped. The airfield didn't have the part. So we got a ham operator to call another ham radio operator 100 miles away. The two ham operators drove toward each other and we picked up the part.

DISQUALIFIED

But, by that time it was nearly 2 a.m. And we had spent the night in a non-designated stop. So that disqualified us, regardless of the reason.

Another time I told my aunt to land short... she can land on a dime, I found. She thought I said land long and we wasted two minutes. She really chewed me out.

I had 13 section maps to navigate from. I worked out straight lines from city to city in the race. Then I put on unusual things like changes in radio frequency. The radio was part of my job... and I had to learn airway etiquette.

At every airport I got press-

Charter Bus To Attend Wedding

Atlantans planning to attend Miss Madalyn Buchman's marriage on Sunday to Leon Eplan of Atlanta have chartered a bus to make the trip to Mobile where the ceremony takes place at 7:30 o'clock at the Ahavas Chesed Synagogue.

In the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Jake Abelson, J. M. Rosenfeld, Abe Goldstein, Berny Bender, Ben Rabinowitz, Bernard Gordon, Louis Smith, Herbert Taylor, Sam E. Levy, Maurice Greenberg, Maurice Goldsmith, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Silver, Mrs. A. Abelson and Mrs. Dora Eplan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Abelson, Louis Epstein and Mrs. Abe Levy of Chattanooga will join the Atlantans there.

Atlanta relatives of the bridegroom-elect leaving earlier in the week for Mobile are his parents, the Samuel L. Eplans; his brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goldsmith, and their daughters, Cory, Marta and Kim, who will be in the wedding party. Mr. and Mrs. Eplan will entertain at a rehearsal dinner-dance for their son and his fiancée on Saturday evening at the Sea Ranch.

Miss Buchman, daughter of the Max Buchmans of Mobile, was entertained in Atlanta before leaving for Mobile by mothers of her students at Morris Brandon School where she taught for two years by Rosalind Gitter, Lois Roth, Irene Siero, Mrs. Sidney Mendel and Mrs. Jack Horowitz.

Mr. Eplan, an Emory graduate, was an urban planning specialist here before he joined the firm of Candeb and Fleisig in New Jersey where he and his bride will reside.

ents for being one of the youngest flyers. My cousin (Mrs. Callaway's daughter) was the other 17-year-old in the race. And every newspaper in the country wrote about us and the mother flying against her two daughters.

FINISHED THIRD

My cousins finished third. They beat a lot of the more experienced flyers. But then nearly 20 other planes ran into the same bad weather we did. Some were able to go on before spending the night in a non-designated stop.

I'd expected my parents to say no when my aunt and I asked if I could be co-pilot.

But they just said: "You have your baby-sitting money. Go ahead."

I'm going to LaGrange College this fall to study either literature or journalism.

But once you get the flying bug you never get rid of it. It's the most expensive hobby you could have.

EXPENSIVE HOBBY

But there are all sorts of things you can do with flying. Everywhere we flew people were amazed at my accent. They called me Georgia.

One man at one of the airports told my aunt and me, "You women have more guts than I do. I'd never fly cross-country in just a Cessna 140."

But I hope to fly next year. I know someone who wants a good co-pilot... and my aunt trained me well.

Miss Sanders, Fiance Tell Wedding Plans

Bride-elect Alice Sanders of Monroe, who is here for a brief visit to her fiancé, Wallace M. Alston Jr., and his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Alston of Decatur, has completed plans for her wedding on Wednesday, Sept. 2.

The ceremony is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the evening, with the bridegroom-elect's father, Dr. Alston, officiating at the First Baptist Church of Monroe.

After the nuptial service, Mr. and Mrs. Tharpe Sanders Jr. will entertain at a reception at their home in Monroe for their daughter and Mr. Alston.

Mr. Sanders will give his daughter in marriage, and she will be attended by Dottie Vischi of Hartsdale, N.Y., as maid of honor.

Her bridesmaids will include her fiancé's sister, Mary Alston of Decatur, Janice Shores and Connie Pollock of Monroe, Elizabeth Stephenson of Winter Haven, Fla., Mimi Sherman of Silver Spring, Md., and Rosemary Smith of Lawrence, Mass.

Charles Scott of Decatur will serve as Mr. Alston's best man. For his usher-groomsman he has chosen the bride-elect's brother, Charles Sanders, John Parrish, Pug Buttrill and Alfred Cogbill, all of Decatur, Hal Hyde Jr. of Atlanta, Jimmy Jones III of Richmond, Va., Eddie Patrick of Brandon, Fla., Buie Seawell of Raleigh, Ed Gross of Maxton, N.C., H. L. Wilson of High Point, N.C., Holland McSwain of Murphy, N.C., and Dr. Ronald Howell of Atlanta.

After their wedding trip, Mr. Alston and his bride will reside in Cambridge, Mass., where he will study at Harvard Divinity School. She will enroll at Pembroke College, Brown University, in Providence, R.I.

Miss Sanders will return to Atlanta on Monday, Aug. 31, for a luncheon with Mrs. Ernest Thompson of Marietta as hostess. That evening Mrs. Eugene Cook and Mrs. Gunter Stephenson will entertain at Aunt Fanny's Cabin in compliment to the bridal couple.

On Sept. 1, Dr. and Mrs. Alston will give a rehearsal dinner at the East Lake Country Club for their son and his fiancée.

Sterilization Solves Nothing

After this I'll shut up about sterilization of ladies of demonstrably easy virtue—at least for a while. There are just a couple of things I think we should consider before this notion that we can eliminate people who may be an expense to us becomes any more prevalent. So far I know of only two counties—Laurens and Spalding—where the grand juries have actually recommended the sterilization of women who have had two illegitimate babies.

But it is a straw in the wind, an indication of a recurring dissatisfaction with seeing the indigent, particularly the Negro indigent, reproduce. Hitler had the same idea, if you recall. He considered Jews a nuisance and first he tried sterilization and then of course, when that wasn't quick enough, he turned to annihilation.

People who contend that the poor and irresponsible, particularly Negroes, have babies for the purpose of collecting a "bounty" from the government aren't being realistic. Illegitimate babies were born long before Aid to Dependent Children grants were ever thought of, particularly among the very poor and the ignorant. The difference is that today's crop of illegitimate babies stands a chance of growing up to be healthier, better educated, more responsible citizens.

Southern states keep trying to find some way of cutting down on ADC clients and Mississippi came up with a way that may be workable—at least it was acceptable to the federal government. It passed a law that in order to collect ADC grants for her children a woman had to maintain a suitable home. Naturally a mother who periodically gave birth to an illegitimate baby could be said to be violating that "suitable home" requirement.

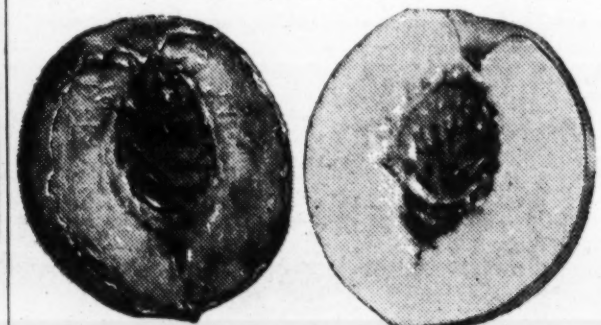

The funny thing is that after the law was passed and numbers of ladies who took maternity lightly were cut off, somebody made a survey and found that the absence of relief money didn't deter them at all. They kept on having illegitimate babies!

The moral issue involved in sterilization is something else. Roman Catholics are opposed to it in any situation, holding that the "sick, the poor and the mentally defective are children of God and possessed of immortal souls, created for eternal blessedness and entitled to respect and reverence" as any soul. The Catholic church looks upon sterilization as "mutilation" of the human body and on a par with homicide.

Protestant churches, favoring birth control, are less outspoken about sterilization. But as the Rev. Harrison McMains, of the Atlanta Christian Council, said the other day, the high incidence of illegitimacy is not going to be cured with the surgeon's knife.

"Sterilization," he said, "is certainly not the answer. Somewhere along the line the community has failed in the matter of education, in the matter of teaching moral values. You're not going to correct this problem by passing a law."

We aren't going to correct it by passing a law but we sure keep trying. Maybe because passing a law is so much easier than offering kindness and patience and understanding and yes, even a scroungy little welfare check, to the outcast.

A REAL PUZZLER—Georgia Tech student J. R. McCulloch was just as puzzled Wednesday over this underground room and dumbwaiter as was the bulldozer operator who uncovered it while excavating for the new Electrical Engineering building on the Tech campus. The hole and apparatus are believed to have been part of a onetime bootlegging operation. The room measured 7x10 feet and was eight feet deep. The steel winch and hoist were intact.

C of C Will Oppose Gross Receipts Tax

Favors License Fee Boost
To Increase City Revenues

Directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce decided Wednesday to ask the city to drop its proposed gross receipts tax and instead to raise business license fees.

They are the second business group to score the proposed tax. Earlier, the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Assn. lodged a protest with the aldermanic finance committee.

The finance committee has proposed a fee plan, drawn up by Richard Felts & Associates after a five-month study, that includes:

1. A flat $50 annual fee for all businesses.
2. A sliding scale of charges based on number of employees.
3. A series of graduated charges based on gross receipts.

A chamber spokesman said his group will ask the aldermen at a public hearing Thursday to determine how much money will be raised by the first two proposals and to figure out how much money is needed.

The chamber directors then propose the city increase business license taxes to bring in the extra money.

Aldermen say the city would net about $700,000 from the three proposals.

"We know the city needs the money and we're willing to pay it," the chamber spokesman said, "but we don't want to use the gross receipts tax to do it."

Court Asked To Padlock Folk School

ALTAMONT, Tenn., (AP)—A Tennessee official Wednesday asked for a court order to padlock and revoke the tax-exempt charter of interracial Highlander Folk School at Monteagle.

The petition was filed by Dist. Atty. A. F. Sloan after a justice of the peace court ordered three white men held for a county grand jury. They had been arrested in a liquor raid at Highlander.

Sloan charged that controversial Highlander has "a reputation of being a place where people drink and engage in immoral, lewd and unchaste practices."

He asked Circuit Judge Chester C. Chittin to consider closing the school at a hearing Aug. 22.

Labor Council Attacks Landrum Bill, Hits Davis

The Atlanta Labor Council Wednesday night adopted a resolution "condemning" the labor bill of Representatives Landrum and Griffin and censuring Rep. James C. Davis "for having pledged to vote for" the bill after telling the council he would not.

The bill also praised Georgia Congressman Erwin Mitchell for his "courageous stand" against the Landrum-Griffin bill.

Al Gross, speaking as a representative of the general labor membership in Atlanta, said the Atlanta Labor Council felt the Landrum-Griffin bill "is a punitive bill and a detriment to the free American labor movement."

Gross said the council felt the bill was particularly harmful to small unions because of "sleepers" which require fines that would put the smaller unions out of business.

In addition, he said, the unions did not think that membership lists ought to be published since it is a person's right to belong to a union without "the whole world knowing about it."

Gross said the Atlanta Labor Council, which is composed of all the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. union members in the Atlanta area, is

Landrum Predicts Victory With 220 Votes

Rep. Landrum (D-Ga.) predicted Wednesday that the labor bill he co-authored would be approved by the House in Washington Thursday.

He said he expected the bill would get "about 220 votes and be passed by the House tomorrow."

The congressman from Jasper made the prediction during a telephone interview from Washington with newsman Jack Hurst of Atlanta radio station WGST.

Hurst quoted Landrum as saying he felt the bill was neither regional nor political and would get good backing from both parties.

SPINETINGLING AND SENSEFUL DRAMA
A taut and compelling French drama, starring Jean Gabin, opened at the Peachtree Art Theatre yesterday.
"Deadlier Than The Male" plays upon all of the emotions and keeps them at fever pitch. Almost like an accomplice, the viewer can see all the signs of fatality. Fortunately, when the tension and suspense reach the breaking point, the film explodes in a dramatic climax.
A beguilingly beautiful girl with an utterly ruthless aggression against all males becomes a coldly determined murderer. This is a character study you will enjoy. Don't miss it.

Zoners Order Hearing On Paces Ferry Club

By HERMAN HANCOCK

A public hearing has been set for 2 p.m., Sept. 16, on a proposal to convert one of the city's show places—the Italian-villa-type home of the late Judge Andrew Calhoun on West Paces Ferry road—into a club.

The joint Atlanta-Fulton County Planning Board Wednesday deferred action on a petition to rezone the site for use as a club and set the hearing. Sam R. Young is chairman of the joint group.

The property is located at 1144 West Paces Ferry road, NW, and contains some 25 acres. It is the proposed town clubhouse site of the Castlevue Town and Country Club.

Chairman Young said that the board had received no official word regarding the use of the property as a club. Under Atlanta zoning ordinances, Young said, apartment zoning of a certain class permits the building of clubs. He explained that he understood that if the property were zoned for apartment use, the applicants would agree to stipulate that no apartments would be built.

The matter will also come up for public hearing before the aldermanic board after the zoning board's hearing on the rezoning, Young said.

The board approved nine petitions, advised 12, and held four others, in addition to the Calhoun petition, for further study.

Approved were measures affecting sites at Bakers Ferry road, SW, near Fairburn road; Briarcliff road near Ponce de Leon avenue; Willis Mill road, SW, near Gordon road; Gordon road near Childers road; Peachtree street, NE, near 16th street; North Highland avenue, NE, near Lanier place; Simpson street, NW, near West Lake avenue, and an ordinance to change the name of Mitchell street, SW, from Corne street west to Chicamunga avenue to Gideons drive, SW.

The board held petitions affecting tracts at Georgia avenue and Pulliam street, SW; Gordon road near Hightower road; Gordon road, SW, near Peyton road; and Lenox road and Kingsboro road. All other petitions were advised.

Tax Deadline

Monday is the deadline for payment of 1959 city taxes without penalty, tax assessors warned Wednesday. Actually Aug. 15 is the final day under the law, but since it falls on Saturday and the courthouse is closed on Saturdays, the time has been extended until Monday. It is believed that around $20 million of the $30.2 million estimated digest as of July 1 have been paid. Delinquents are subject to $1.50 fine, charge and 6 per cent interest from the date of the deadline to final payment of the tax.

Firemen Honored

Certificates of merit were presented two metropolitan area firemen Wednesday by Hal L. Smith, chairman of the Atlanta Chapter, American Red Cross, for rescue of two Negroes.

Lt. Andrew P. Black, member of the Atlanta Fire Department, was awarded a certificate for saving the life of a seven-year-old Negro boy in a blaze at Henry Grady Homes.

Leroy T. McCarty Jr. of the East Point Fire Department was awarded a similar certificate for saving the life of a Negro man.

Driver Killed

As Truck Dives Off Embankment

A Negro man was killed in Atlanta Wednesday when the dump truck he was driving plunged over an embankment and overturned.

Police said the driver, Milus Walker, 49, of 156 Clark St., died instantly in the accident.

The driver lost control and the truck plunged over a 10-ft. embankment and overturned, pinning the driver underneath, police said.

It was Atlanta's 45th traffic fatality of the year, compared to 45 for the same period last year.

Jackson Grand Jury Praises Ousted Panel, Asks Overhaul

The Jackson County grand jury adjourned Wednesday afternoon after returning 14 presentments, most of which referred to the county's audit system.

The jury commended the February 1959 grand jury which was adjourned by court order before it could make presentments or return any indictments. The present jury praised the former jurors "for their painstaking and time-consuming study of conditions in our county and for their report to this grand jury."

They were commended both for their action as a jury and as a citizens committee, which was formed after court-ordered adjournment halted their legal sessions.

The present jury also recommended that the county consider the offer of Sheriff John B. Brooks and Sol. Gen. Alfred A. Quillian to buy back some $9,000 in insolvent court costs from the county, which the jury said were bought from a former solicitor-general for a reported $1,000 and hold to the county for $9,000. The transaction allegedly took place in January 1958.

In regard to the audit, the grand jury recommended that the county commissioners and clerks study the bookkeeping and accounting systems of other counties of comparable size and from these select new systems for Jackson County.

They also asked that a complete reappraisal of the "taxable values" of all real and personal property in Jackson County be made by an independent expert in the field who is not a resident of the county.

In addition they recommended a crackdown on delinquent county taxes arising from this reappraisal and added that any taxes 12 months or more in arrears should be published in the county's legal paper, The Jackson Herald.

The grand jury recommended that a new purchase system be set up which would use competitive bids as a basis. The county previously used no bid system but bought outright.

Other recommendations included a request for the approval of the audit law for Jackson County. This audit law was passed by the last session of the State General Assembly and requires at least one audit a year.

Also the members of the jury asked that the county elect three commissioners who would meet once a week. The commissioners would have the authority to employ county managers.

These managers would have charge of all county roads and other county operations. The three commissioners would be paid a salary of $100 a month.

Earlier in the week the jury presented two indictments against Judge Maylon Clinkscales and one against Winder attorney Marvin D. Pierce. As yet no warrants have been sworn out against the pair since a bench warrant is usually issued by the Superior Court judge.

"I'll make me a bourbon for giants"

No bourbon was big enough to match his mettle.

So Lewis Hunter made his own, and it pleased him....

And it has come to please other men of the same bold, uncompromising taste.

No meetings were held, no votes taken. This bourbon was to please one man—Number One, Lewis Hunter, blacksmith.

The perfect limestone water site was there in Cynthiana, Kentucky. And the virgin oak for cask and still. At his forge, he pounded out vats with a 20-pound sledge till the copper rang with the promise of a bourbon money couldn't buy.

Today, Old Lewis Hunter, still produced at the smith's first site, pleases men who might have been his friends a century ago.

STOP "OILY SKIN" PIMPLES!

It doesn't help just to cover pimples. You must cut down action of pimple germs...promote healing

Don't pinch, scratch or squeeze pimples! And don't doctor yourself with a preparation that may cover them up, but lacks real medical value. For real relief you must use a scientific method.

Doctors know that the cause of acne or pimples is invasion of the ducts of overactive oil glands in your skin by a germ called the acne bacillus. These germs breed on the excessive oil secretions. They cause blackheads and pus pockets; then your skin "breaks out."

What's needed is (1) to dry up the excessive oil or sebum that collects constantly on the skin; (2) to destroy acne germs that infect skin; and (3) to stop itching and irritation so the pimples can heal.

A doctor's formula, liquid Zemo has this 3-way action; that's why it's so effective. Antiseptic, keeps your skin cleaner, too.

To check pimple germs at night use Zemo ointment. Flesh-colored Zemo liquid and ointment both come in regular and extra strength.

Little Rock Story Told in Pictures

LITTLE ROCK—An estimated 1,000 demonstrators marched on the state capitol, charging up the steps (lower left) demanding Arkansas governor Orval Faubus come out and speak. The crowd carrying flags and dotted with slogan-bearing signs got their wish. Gov. Faubus (upper left), flanked by state troopers, addressed the crowd. He again admonished them against violence and disorder. Shortly after the Faubus talk approximately 200 demonstrators marched on Central High School. At an intersection two blocks from the high school they clashed with Little Rock police. (Story on Page 1). Meanwhile, at another high school, the previously all-white Hall High, (upper right) three Negro girls entered the school shortly before classes began and integration at Hall High was accomplished without incident. A line of police kept traffic moving and precluded the possibility of a crowd gathering within a four-block area of the two-year-old $1,200,000 school, located in the heart of the all-white Pulaski Heights section of Little Rock.

Can Prove Marlowe Wrote Shakespeare, Critic Insists

By WALTER H. WAGGONER
(Copyright 1959, The New York Times Co.)
LONDON — Calvin Hoffman, the American critic who contends that Christopher Marlowe wrote the works of William Shakespeare, offered Wednesday what he called new "textual and documentary evidence" in support of his thesis.

Reading occasionally from a broken-backed volume of works by George Chapman, another Elizabethan, Hoffman told a news conference he had "solid proof that Marlowe was very much alive in 1598, five years after he had been reported murdered in a tavern brawl."

Skeptics of the Marlowe-Shakespeare thesis have pointed out that all of the bard's plays were written after Marlowe's reported death in May, 1593. That, Hoffman conceded, had been the main obstacle to acceptance of the argument even by those scholars who acknowledged the likenesses in the styles of the two dramatists.

"This hurdle, I am delighted to say, has now been overcome," said Hoffman.

His evidence was of two main parts, both adduced from research in the British museum and discovery of hitherto unknown documents.

The first was the publication early in 1598 of the first of two sestiads, or one-sixth parts, of "Hero and Leander," written by Marlowe just before his death five years earlier. Later in 1598, the remaining four sestiads, were added, but ascribed to the lesser known George Chapman.

In dedication of the completed poem, Chapman thanks Lady Walsingham for her "continued kindness in my still obscure state and uncomfortable and painful dumbness."

Those words, according to Hoffman, refer to Marlowe's own enforced obscurity and secret life since his alleged death. The murder in the tavern was contrived, say the Marlowe supporters, to save the dramatist from execution for heresy. And it was Sir Thomas Walsingham, husband of the lady of the dedication, who found another "tavern brawl" victim and arranged Marlowe's escape from the hangman.

The second element in Hoffman's evidence was the discovery that only two volumes of the 1598 edition, with its attribution of dual authorship and revealing dedication, were ever found, and they only in 1870. One is now in the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington.

Large numbers of five subsequent editions, published from 1600 to 1629, have been found, however, but with what Hoffman calls "the highly combustible dedication" missing. Further clouding the true authorship of the poem was the 1600 edition appearing as the work of Marlowe alone.

Because only two copies of the suspicious 1598 edition were found almost 300 years later—stumbled upon in the lumber room of the Isham family estate, Lamport Hall, Northamptonshire—Hoffman believes the edition had been deliberately destroyed.

Hoffman also cited a late "Hero and Leander," published in 1616 and accepted as authentic George Chapman, in which the author unfavorably compares his work with "the excellent poem of Master Marlowe."

Hoffman has been a student of Shakespeare and/or Marlowe for 23 years. His book, "The Murder of the Man who was Shakespeare," was published in the United States by Julian Messner in 1955. He began to work seriously on his thesis, he said, when he discovered the similarities and "parallels" in the works of the two Elizabethans.

Floridan Held In Attempted Rape of Negro

MADISON, Fla. (AP)—A white man was jailed Wednesday for investigation in the alleged attempted rape of an 18-year-old Negro girl near Lamont.

State Attorney William Randall Slaughter said he planned to take testimony in the case Thursday.

He declined to discuss the case or release the man's name pending an investigation. No formal charges have been filed.

The man was apprehended at his home in Perry Tuesday night by highway patrol troopers and sheriff's deputies.

Sheriff J. B. Thomas said the man posed as the operator of a drive-in restaurant and went into the Lamont community looking for a Negro girl to wash dishes.

A Negro girl hired as a dishwasher told officers the man ordered her at gun point to remove her clothing and that he also disrobed. She said that when he placed his gun on top of the clothing, she escaped from the car and dashed into the home of a Negro preacher. The preacher summoned officers.

Atlanta and Nation Salute FHA Today

Atlanta businessmen will join with others throughout the country Thursday in saluting the Federal Housing Administration.

FHA will celebrate its 25th anniversary with nationwide promotions designed to bring about improvement in mortgage lending practices.

Atlanta homeowners — possibly more than any others in the South — have developed a close acquaintance with FHA money lenders over the years. The FHA loans and home appraisals have played an important part in Atlanta's burgeoning suburbs.

Oft-Bluffing Farmer Kills Wife, Self

CLIMAX, N.C. (AP)—"I stayed away from work to kill you and myself," the 48-year-old tenant farmer, swaying slightly from the effects of alcohol, told his terrified wife.

Neighbors said Dick Cockerham had often made such threats in past years. His 10 children didn't know Wednesday whether to believe him this time. He was humming little snatches of melody as he entered their small kitchen.

County police said this is what happened:

"I am going to kill you now," he told his wife Minnie, 47. As she pleaded with him to wait—perhaps he could shoot her later, she said placatingly—he pointed the .45-caliber service pistol and began jerking the trigger.

Mrs. Cockerham, trying to escape, received three bullets in the back. She fell to the floor, dying. Cockerham, ignoring his children's screams of fright, stumbled from the house. Another shot was fired.

Deputy Thurman Jones, among the officers who arrived a short time later, found Cockerham lying dazed behind a barn near the house. The pistol lay beside him. He had been shot in the head. He died in a hospital.

Couple Seized In Lottery Raid

Two Negroes were arrested by Atlanta police on lottery charges Wednesday.

They are Albert Cooley, 32, of 392 Rock St., NW, and Annie Howard, 55, of 464 D'Alvigny St., Northwest.

The arresting officers, Patrolmen R. T. Roper and R. B. Barfield said they found lottery paraphernalia in homes of each suspect. A hearing for the suspects is scheduled 2 p.m. Thursday in municipal court.

Settlement On Gas Tax In Sight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House tax writers and the Eisenhower administration neared agreement Wednesday on a compromise proposal calling for a temporary increase of a penny a gallon in the federal gasoline tax.

The House Ways and Means Committee was said to have included the tax increase as part of a plan for staving off a shortage of funds which threatens to halt work on the interstate superhighway system.

HAS GOOD CHANCE

The plan was worked out behind closed doors and discussed with Secretary of the Treasury Anderson. It was not put to a vote immediately in the committee, but indications were that its chances for approval, possibly Thursday, were good.

The proposed financing compromise was a five-year plan. It would increase the gasoline tax from three to four cents a gallon for 22 months beginning Sept. 1. Then for three years after the tax boost expired, a percentage of the take from auto excise taxes would be diverted from the Treasury's general fund into the highway trust fund.

The plan, if approved, would represent a major reversal of position on the part of both the committee and the administration.

ASKED MORE

The President originally asked Congress to boost the gas tax by 1½ cents a gallon. Democratic congressional leaders refused to go along with an increase of that size, and the Ways and Means Committee on at least nine previous occasions rejected smaller proposed increases in the tax.

At the same time, the Administration strenuously objected to committee proposals to divert tax money from general revenue into the highway fund or to float special bond issues to ease the highway financing crisis.

Committee members said that while Anderson told them he would prefer that Congress grant Eisenhower's request for a five-year 1½ cent gas tax boost, they understood that the administration might be forced to accept some compromise. This was the first hint of a willingness on the administration's part to back down on its original proposal.

Cuba Holds Miami For Second Month

HAVANA, (AP)—U. S. Embassy spokesmen said Wednesday John Martino of Miami, Fla., still is being detained by Cuban authorities. He was seized here last month and ordered held for investigation.

Aldermen Threaten To Curb Taxi Rates

Aldermen may move to regulate charges made by Atlanta's 400 taxicabs if a projected rate increase up to 60 per cent is ordered by the companies Sept. 1.

The aldermanic board's police committee Wednesday night instructed Capt. E. O. Mullen, investigator for the committee, to notify operators to file new rate schedules with the committee before making them effective.

Under existing ordinances aldermen reserved the right to fix taxicab rates, but never exercised it because several companies operate and it was believed competition would insure relatively low rates.

Mullen, however, reported to the committee it has been reported that new rates calling for a 50-cent charge for the first ¼ mile, and 10 cents for each additional ¼ mile are being considered. This would contrast with a present 50-cent charge for the first mile and an additional 10 cents for each additional 2½ miles.

Of the 400 cabs operating in the city, 100 are for Negro patrons, Mullen estimated.

Ald. Ed A. Gilliam, police committee chairman, said aldermen may exercise their authority to regulate rates if a raise considered unjustified is set.

"I think we would look narrowly at any substantial rate hike," he told his colleagues on the committee.

The committee also:

1. Adversed a petition by Paul Jones to sell beer for consumption on the premises at a wrestling arena at 70 Houston St., NE.

2. Deferred to the Sept. 2 committee meeting a proposal to require pawnbrokers to fingerprint all persons pawning objects at their establishments. Enforcement officials say the fingerprinting would aid law enforcement, but operators contend it would be of doubtful value and might have an adverse effect on their businesses.

3. Approved a resolution to study the effect of a proposed ordinance to require all persons pawning objects at their establishments to be fingerprinted.

Stars To Shower On State Tonight

By CHARLES MOORE

At the slight risk of a crick in the neck, you can treat yourself to one of nature's greatest fireworks displays in 3-D, living color and on a wide, wide screen simply by strolling out into your yard around midnight Thursday.

Due is a real Shower of Stars. And scores of fiery meteors will arch across the sky, leaving a luminous trail behind and disintegrating with an explosion.

Shooting stars at the rate of about one a minute should be visible over most of Georgia Thursday night during the annual meteor shower known as the Persids, said Jack Berry of Georgia Tech. Berry is conducting a study of meteor behavior.

The Persids have been seen around the second week in August since before the birth of Christ. They're about the oldest, largest and most regular of meteor showers.

The best time to see them is after the setting of the moon. That's around 11:30 p.m. or midnight.

The weatherman said chances are good that skies will permit a good look at the meteors, but cautioned predictions are risky this time of year.

Berry suggests looking toward the north but they'll be coming down in several directions. However, if you live just south of Atlanta or another city, look in a direction away from the downtown section. The glow in the sky from city lights will cut down on what you can see.

Although meteors are easily seen, their "core" is usually no larger than a pea. What you see as a shooting star is a mass of luminous gas around the iron, stone or glass meteor.

As the bit of solid matter pushes through the earth's atmosphere up about 85 miles at speeds sometimes greater than 150,000 miles an hour, it compresses air in front of it.

This compressed air glows as friction heats the meteor. The surface of the meteor melts with the heat and gives off glowing particles which produce the luminous trail.

Nobody knows.

It's moving around the sun in the same orbit as the earth. It's composed of materials made of chemical elements that are found on earth (no element unknown on earth has ever been found in meteorites).

Many scientists believe meteors are some of the trash residue from the breaking up of a planet the size of the earth.

And when was this big pop? Well, it appears to have been around the time man appeared on earth, give or take a few million years.

Milton in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Dr. Milton Eisenhower arrived Wednesday for a good-will visit that will include talks with Mexican officials and a tour of parts of the country.

GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

GBI Agent Kills Prisoner Choking Him in Moving Car

A Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent Wednesday shot to death a Negro junkyard employee who was trying to strangle him in a moving car, Terrell County Sheriff Z. T. Mathews said at Dawson.

GBI Agent J. W. Southwell shot Willie Lovett, 39, twice in the chest after Lovett grabbed him from behind and started choking him as Southwell was driving him to jail, the sheriff reported.

The incident occurred after Southwell arrested Lovett on a charge of twice raping a 16-year-old Negro girl Tuesday night. No charges were placed against the GBI agent.

"It was clearly a case of self-defense. The officer fired in the line of duty," Sheriff Mathews said.

Mathews said Southwell managed to stop the car while Lovett was choking him. The agent then drew his pistol, placed it under his arm and fired twice over the seat.

Road Cutback Feared

Robert Jordan, state highway board member, said Wednesday a sharp cutback in federal interstate highway funds would have devastating effect not only upon the highway department over the nation but on the entire economy.

In a speech before the Hawkinsville Rotary Club, the official said such a cutback would make it necessary for the Highway Department to dismiss trained engineers and that later the department would again face an acute shortage of such trained personnel.

Catoosa Case Voided

The last of four indictments returned by the Catoosa County grand jury last February has been quashed in circuit court in Ringgold.

Catoosa County Sol. Gen.

Earl Self refused to prosecute ordinary Harold Yates and the ordinary's uncle, former state Sen. Charley Yates.

The Yateses and State Sen. J. B. Buff Jr. and Rep. John W. Love all were indicted in connection with alleged negotiations over legislation to change the ordinary's pay system from fees to straight salary.

Rape Case Appeal

A 56-year-old carpenter and long-time prison fugitive, sentenced to death in the rape of a 7-year-old girl, will get a new trial hearing Nov. 20.

Superior Court Judge Thomas J. Brown Jr. set the hearing date shortly after sentencing John Will Bloodworth, alias J. W. Jackson, to be electrocuted Oct. 6. The new trial motion automatically voided the electrocution date. It was filed Tuesday by W. B. Mitchell, court-appointed defense attorney.

A jury convicted Bloodworth Monday after about two hours' deliberation. It failed to recommend mercy and made the death penalty mandatory.

HEALTH
HAPPINESS

By DR. SARA JORDAN

When To Undergo A Hysterectomy

Hysterectomy is usually done for two reasons. One is the presence of benign tumors of the uterus called fibroids which have become so large that they interfere with other organs in the abdomen and pelvis or cause profuse or prolonged vaginal bleeding. The other reason is the suspicion of cancer in the womb.

An early diagnosis of cancer has been made possible in modern days by a test of cells found in the secretions and microscopically examined.

When either of these conditions is present no time is lost between the examination and advice for hysterectomy. Women sometimes think this operation will have the same effect as the normal menopause which they conjure up as ending their sex life. In this they are usually partially wrong on both counts. The menopause, like hysterectomy, ends the monthly periods. In that respect they are alike and childbearing is, of course, impossible after either of these events.

In normal menopause a hormonal adjustment has to be made because at that time the ovaries temporarily lose their role in the control of emotional and often the physical life of the woman, leaving her subject to sudden swings of mood and temperament or unusual lack of endurance which are difficult for husband and family to understand.

Fortunately, in these days artificially made hormonal substances are available to act as a substitute for the natural ones. They smooth out many of the difficulties our grandmothers thought they inevitably had to endure in silence, and often without understanding on the part of the family.

With hysterectomy, when the patient is several years under the menopausal age, the surgeon usually leaves one ovary to carry on with its normal secretions. Then the unpleasant symptoms of a normal menopause do not occur because the one ovary, or even a part of one, compensates for the loss of the other one and maintains the role of the ovaries in the emotional and physical life of a woman.

If the safety of the younger patient makes it necessary that both ovaries be removed there often follows what is called an artificial menopause, both in the failure to menstruate and in emotional or physical disturbances. In these cases, also, artificial hormonal extracts are most valuable in dispelling the unpleasantness of emotional imbalance.

By neither hysterectomy nor by normal menopause is the sex life of woman changed, some popular thought to the contrary. Marital relationship should be unimpaired, and even the temperamental disturbances of the wife and mother may be tolerated with confidence that time and patience will have its reward in a return of the "good disposition" once expected as part of her role as wife and mother.

(Dr. Jordan cannot undertake to answer personal questions by mail. However, questions of general interest relating to health will be discussed from time to time in this column.)

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	1 NT
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠.

In today's hand, East, despite his unimpressive holding, remained alert enough to count declarer's hand to the last spot, enabling him to defeat the contract by a defensive play somewhat off the beaten path.

North's one no trump response is proper on his evenly balanced minimum hand, but the same opinion cannot be given of South's rebid. Holding 20 high card points, he should offer a direct raise to three no trump. He has no reason to insist on a suit contract and, furthermore, a jump rebid in the same suit is not even forcing.

West opened the queen of diamonds against four spades, and declarer ruffed the third round of the suit. Two leads drew the adverse trumps, and declarer cashed three rounds of clubs winding up in dummy. He then led a low heart hoping that his eight would force an honor out of West's hand and compel him to make a favorable lead into declarer. Had East played "second hand low," the eight of hearts would have forced West's king and left him with no safe return. A diamond lead would permit declarer to ruff in dummy as he discarded the jack of hearts from his own hand, and a heart return would wind up affairs in the simplest manner.

But East had devoted a moment to counting declarer's hand as play proceeded. He had learned that South held five spades, three clubs, and only two diamonds. This left him with exactly three hearts. If South held ace-king-jack the fight was over, for surely declarer would finesse the jack. If declarer held ace-king and a small heart it mattered not which card East played, for West would make a trick with the jack. But if South held ace-jack-eight it was important not to permit him to force the lead into West's hand cheaply.

East, therefore, inserted the queen of hearts, which completely disarmed the declarer. South actually ducked, hoping East had played from king and queen, but a heart return settled the issue.

State's Film Library Is One of Best in Country

The first two things they teach Georgia schoolchildren nowadays are (1) the way to the bathroom and (2) how to run the 16 mm. movie projector.

Well, really, the child gets out of the first grade before he runs the projector, but there are sure a lot of them being run. And a good thing, too.

The State Department of Education now has the largest film library of any state in the nation. Officials in the department believe it is the largest educational film library anywhere.

The department has 4,343 "titles" and 43,000 prints of the film. They cover nearly every subject you can think of, from science to basketball. The library is relatively new. In 1947, the first year of its operation, it had 660 titles and was used by only 325 schools.

Last year the films were used by 1,430 schools out of the state's total of 1,800. The department made 238,023 separate bookings of films.

The library is divided into four parts. There is a library here in Atlanta, one in Collegeboro (Statesboro), one in Tifton and one in Macon. Garland C. Bagley is director of the program.

The library has branched out in the last four years to include magnetic tapes of recordings and now has 5,500 of these—also the country's largest.

Georgia's education motto might well be: Stop. Look. Listen. and Get an Education.

Can You Solve This $5 Mystery?

Mrs. Reba Collins of Edmond, Okla., writes: "Somebody in Atlanta probably holds the key to a mystery that has been plaguing the small, peaceful town of Edmond for more than two years.

"In the spring of 1957 a personable, middle-aged circus performer known only as Mr. King of Atlanta rented a room from Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Neighbors (Mrs. Collins' parents). A few weeks later... out of money... Mr. King left for Texas, but left his luggage as security for the meager $5 he was lacking to pay his rent in full."

Mrs. Collins says the luggage is worth far more than $5 and the Neighbors hesitate to sell the suitcases. They'd much rather find out what happened to Mr. King.

Do you know the answer?

Where, Oh Where, Is the Polar Bear Rare?

Lt. David S. Boyd, engineering reactor officer on the submarine U.S.S. Skate said that when the sub came up for the first time in a rift in the ice of the Arctic Ocean near the North Pole, a polar bear made a hasty retreat out the other side.

The men of the Skate really thought nothing of it. This was the Arctic, wasn't it? This was the home of the polar bear, wasn't it? They didn't even bother trying to "collect" this wild specimen. There would be plenty of opportunities in the natural habitat of the big white brute.

That was the last polar bear they saw.

BEST idea for fresh peach time!

How can you miss? Dewy fresh peaches, real ice cream and a flaky pie crust made with the one BEST flour

For crusts this flaky, tender and golden brown only the BEST flour will do!

With this one flour your baking is never in doubt. Open the sack and see . . . Pillsbury's BEST is white. Handles well—blends smoothly. And it's fresh. It has to be because we start with only the best "blue ribbon" wheat. And you get the best pie crusts you've ever baked—or we pay for all the ingredients.

PEACH PIE

Developed by Ann Pillsbury
Bake at 450° for 10 minutes. MAKES 9-inch pie.
then at 350° for 30 to 35 minutes.
Sift together . . . 2 cups sifted Pillsbury's BEST All Purpose Flour* and 1 teaspoon salt into mixing bowl.

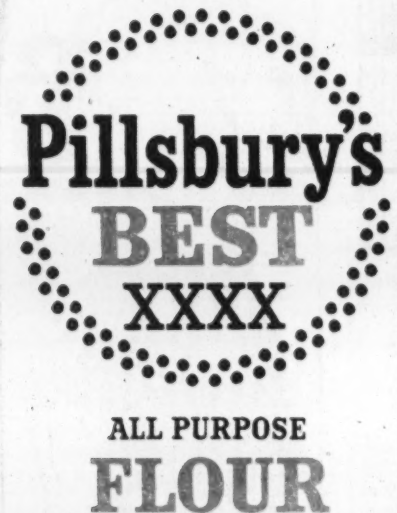

Cut in . . . $\frac{3}{4}$ cup shortening until the size of small peas.
Sprinkle . . . 6 to 7 tablespoons cold water over mixture stirring with fork until dough is moist enough to hold together.
Form . . . into two balls. Flatten one to $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thickness; smooth edges.
Roll out . . . on floured surface to a circle $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches larger than inverted 9-inch piepan. Fit into pan.

Peach Filling

Combine . . . $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup firmly packed brown sugar
Cover . . . 5 cups sliced fresh peaches with sugar mixture. Let stand about 1 hour. Drain, reserving juice.
Combine . . . in small saucepan 3 tablespoons cornstarch

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon nutmeg
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon cinnamon and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt. Gradually add reserved peach juice, blending until smooth.
Cook . . . over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Remove from heat.
Add . . . 1 tablespoon lemon juice and sliced peaches.
Turn . . . into unbaked pie shell; dot with 1 tablespoon butter.
Roll out . . . remaining dough. Cut into strips $\frac{1}{2}$ in. wide; crisscross over filling to form lattice top. Trim and seal ends; fold bottom crust over to cover. Flute. Brush strips with milk.
Bake . . . at 450° for 10 minutes, then at 350° for 30 to 35 minutes.

*For use with Pillsbury's BEST Self-Rising Flour, omit salt and decrease water to 4 to 5 tablespoons.

The Same Colts

CHICAGO, Ill. — Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts issued a simple statement Wednesday explaining in simple detail why the NFL champions are a whopping 16-point favorite to dismantle the College All-Stars Friday night in Soldier Field.

"We will go with the same line-up against the All-Stars that we used last December in the championship game with the Giants," Ewbank said.

No further explanation is required for anyone who saw the Colts clip the Giants in the most thrilling football game of all time.

Ewbank's announcement, of course, was more or less routine. The Colts have only seven rookies, for the simple reason that they need no replacements. It's tougher to crash into their starting line-up than out of Alcatraz.

Reports from the Westminster, Md., battleground indicate that the Colts are sharp and eager for combat. Quarterback Johnny Unitas has been pitching strikes all over the lot, and Big Daddy Lipscomb and associates are eager to educate the collegians.

Outlar Professor Otto Graham, who earned a coaching Master's Degree last year when the upstart Stars startled the Detroit Lions, is hoping to arrange another surprise party. However, Graham by no means expects his troops to duplicate last year's feat. The Colts reportedly aren't taking this game lightly; the Lions did.

—Stars Hope To Shine in the Air

One look at the beefy Baltimore line tips off the brand of strategy Graham plans to employ.

"We'll have to do lots of throwing," Graham said after Wednesday's Kickoff Luncheon at the Palmer House. "There's obviously no way we can overpower the Colt line."

Lee Grosscup, the human slingshot from Utah, has been doing most of the pitching in Star practice sessions at Evanston, Ill. End Buddy Dial of Rice has been the stickout catcher.

Though there is a thin sprinkling of SEC stars on the premises, Hanson Churchwell of Ole Miss and Billy Stacy of Mississippi State have earned applause from coaches. Churchwell, a bullish 250-pound guard, will join the Colts after he attempts to beat them. Stacy, the State quarterback star, is booked for defensive duty. Quarterbacks Bobby Jackson of Alabama and Richie Petitbon of Tulane are other SEC delegates.

The Colts will have a sizable weight advantage, but the largest man on either roster is tackle Mac Lewis of Iowa. At least, he was the largest, weighing in at 313 when the Stars launched practice. He has now trimmed down to a "thin" 295.

The Stars aren't apt to spring another upset, but the game stacks up as an interesting contest. Graham is satisfied with practice efforts of his men. He says the attitude compares favorably with last year.

—Why Graham Enlisted with the Coast Guard

After the Stars knocked off the Lions, Graham was flooded with offers to become a college coach. He rejected all invitations until last Christmas when, surprisingly, he accepted a bid to coach the Coast Guard Academy.

Why?

"I refused to get into the rat race where a college coach can't govern factors which determine his job," the former Cleveland Brown ace quarterback explained. "I try to win as hard as anyone. But you can't convince me that winning at any price is more important than how you win the game."

"There are no football scholarships at the Coast Guard Academy; no political appointments," Graham continued. "There's no alumni pressure. We play a schedule which includes Trinity, Amherst, Vermont and Norwich. The job offers all the advantages of coaching without the problems. I'll be working with high type boys and I like to coach football. I'll be home with my family most every night. I won't be beating the bushes for recruits. The job offers compensations for larger salaries elsewhere."

Prof. Graham apparently won't be confronted with many problems at the Coast Guard. But he is saddled with a prodigious chore here Friday night. Trying to unseat the mighty Colts, with collegians is a monumental assignment.

It's a booming sports fiesta in Chicago. The pesky Cubs are currently tormenting Los Angeles at Wrigley Field; the All-Star game is on tap Friday night, and the White Sox return home Monday.

Around the hotel lobbies, visiting firemen are talking football. But the man in the street is more interested in the White Sox. Prospects of this city's first American League pennant since 1919 have excited the natives.

Earl Mann Denies Statement Furman Bisher Says He Made

In a sizzling 61-word statement, Atlanta Cracker owner-president Earl Mann heatedly denied statements attributed to him Wednesday by Atlanta Journal sports editor Furman Bisher.

It was a blanket denial of Bisher's report that Mann was not interested in the third league, or in a job with the third league.

Here's what Mann said: "I am convinced that Atlanta Journal sports editor Furman Bisher is not interested in factual statements. He interprets them as he sees fit and prints them accordingly. Hereafter, any statements I give Mr. Bisher will be in writing only.

"This is the first time in 26 years in baseball that I have been fired, and by a sports editor... such luck."

Under a headline of "Mann's Definitely Out of Third League Picture Here," Bisher said in his column:

"... In order to clarify some conflicting reports, the Journal Monday reported in Earl Mann's own words a disinterest in a third league. The Atlanta Constitution, bounding in wrapped stylishly in a blanket denial — if all the blanket denials and blanket indictments issuing from that region recently were laid end to end, it would constitute a lot of blanket denials and indictments laid end to end — claimed Mann had been misquoted and abused.

"The Journal's original notes were still at hand, written the afternoon Mann had said, 'No third league for me. Frankly, I don't think it has the chance.'"

"Tuesday afternoon the same Mann told the Journal the same thing another way. 'I have no interest in the third major league. I haven't got the money.' He added that he didn't have the money to operate the Cracker's next season. He didn't say this, but it has been said by others, that the bank holding the mortgage on the Cracker's will go no further than the 1959 season on a double A league basis.

"Mr. Mann said he was not incensed. He said he loved everybody and that he would love to see Atlanta get a major league franchise in any league, but that he couldn't be a participating party to it. At least that's what he said Tuesday. I'm not sure what he will say Wednesday."

BEAR BRYANT ADDS BANK DIRECTOR TITLE

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (P)—Paul (Bear) Bryant, head coach and athletic director at the University of Alabama, has been named a director of the First National Bank of Tuscaloosa.

Bank president Frank Moody made the announcement following the election Tuesday.

J. Reese Phifer, owner of Phifer Wire Products Co. here and founder of the Tuscaloosa Federal Savings and Loan Assn., also was elected to the First National board.

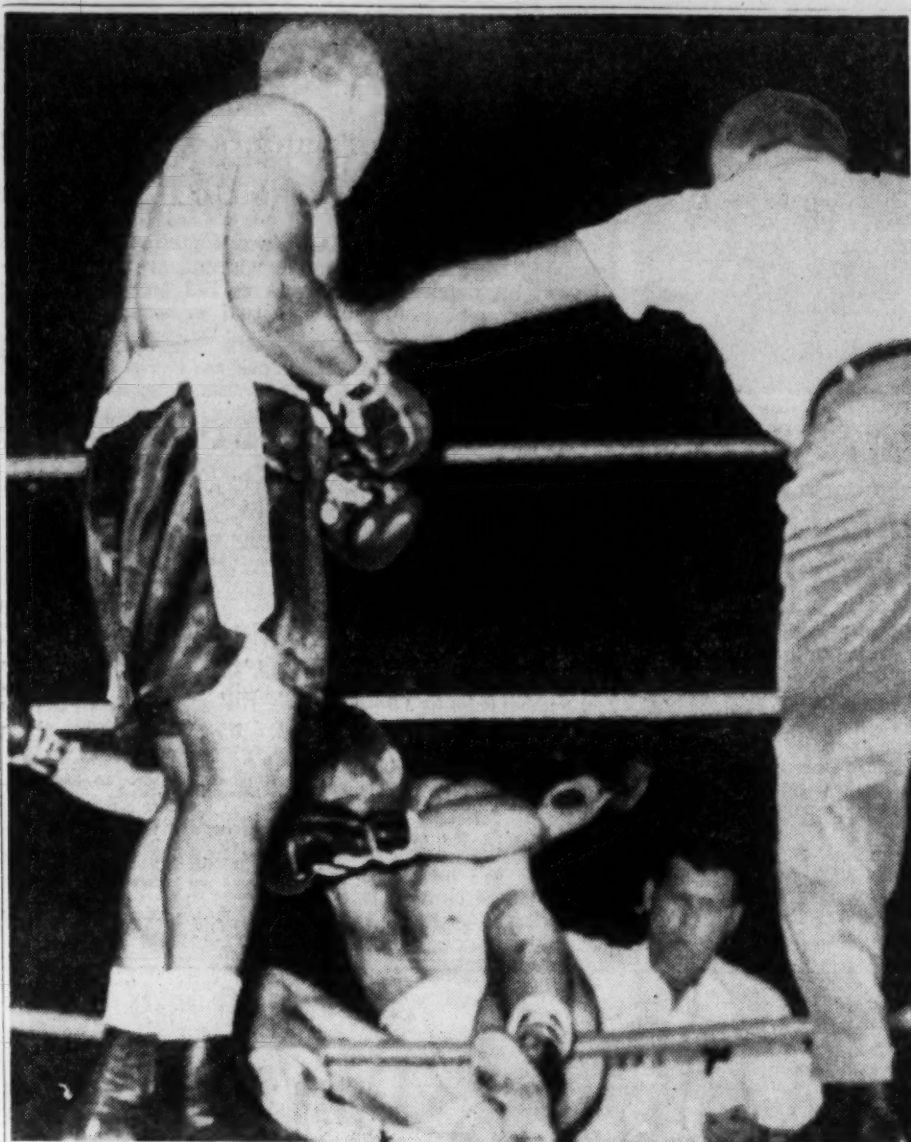

Bryant, who has been confined to a Birmingham hospital with leg infection, returned to his home here Wednesday.

Crackers Pop Pels, 7-0, 4-3

Taylor's Single in Tenth Assures First Double Win

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Apparently having heard Atlanta may go major league, the Crackers began playing like big leaguers and Wednesday night won a double-header for the first time this season. New Orleans was the 7-0, 4-3 victim, the nightcap going 10 innings.

Claude Raymond, deserting the bullpen for a starting role for the first time since June 10, scattered seven hits and struck out nine in the opener to become the second Cracker to whitewash the Pels in three games.

The twin win, negotiated before 484 Ponce de Leon Park patrons, ran the Atlanta victory skein to four in a row, longest of the season. They had lost 10 and split 11 double bills previously.

The "T-Boys" — Talbot and Taylor — continued their torrid bat binges to lead a 22-hit onslaught on Bert Thiel, the Pels' first game starter, and Bradey. The latter, the Southern Association's winningest hurler, was in quest of his 18th triumph but soaked up his seventh setback.

Talbot, on a 16-for-26 tear, and 10-for-16 during the New Orleans series, slashed five safeties in eight trips — including a first game home run — scored four times and batted in two runs.

Taylor, catching one game and playing outfield the other, went four-for-eight, tallied once and chased home four runners, including the last three in the nightcap.

Moore Stops Durelle In 2:52 of Round 3

Champ Wins Scrap Easily

(Copyright 1959, The New York Times Co.)

MONTREAL — Archie Moore had an easier time with Yvon Durelle Wednesday night than he had making the weight for the defense of his light heavyweight championship of the world. Moore, the perennial pugilist, knocked out his Canadian challenger in 2:52 of the third round of a scheduled 15-round bout.

Moore knocked his opponent down four times in scoring the knockout, each of these knockdowns occurring in the third round. The game Canadian was completely outclassed by his skillful rival, and though Durelle tried to get up at the fourth knockdown, he was unable to do so. Referee Jack Sharkey tolled the full count of ten over the fallen gladiator.

A crowd of some 12,000 fans witnessed the fight, most of whom were drawn by the highly dramatic occurrences of their last clash, here on Dec. 10. In that contest, each fighter scored four knockdowns, before Moore won by a knockout in eleven rounds.

Moore was in complete charge this time all the way, and the fight was decidedly one-sided. Still, the crowd, highly sentimental toward Durelle, enjoyed

ARCHIE OFFERS INGO $MILLION FOR FIGHT

MONTREAL (P)—Ringmaster Archie Moore bounced happily into his dressing room Wednesday night after retaining his world light-heavyweight title and announced he has sent Ingemar Johansson a $1,000,000 offer for a heavyweight title match.

More, holding court from a cloth-covered rubbing table, said the match would be promoted by "Canadian and United States interests."

Moore would not elaborate further but his manager Jack (Doc) Kearns said the $1,000,000 "would be strictly Johansson's cut. Our share has not been discussed."

He, too, declined to name the prospective promoters. He said "the idea is to bring the title back to America."

Moore, in his white ring robe and dripping sweat heavily, calmly accepted the congratulations of well-wishers. He was unmarked.

Moore said a good left hook he landed just under the heart of challenger Yvon Durelle was the blow that set up the Canadian's downfall.

"That took the steam out of him and after he fell I knew it was just a matter of time before I had him," Moore said.

The Canadian, Moore said, hurt him only once. "He hit me with a vicious left hook to the body in the second round. But I counterpunched and hurt him just as bad."

Archie said the 85-degree temperature in the Forum was a blessing. He said in his first meeting with Durelle last December, he went into the fight cold.

"That's why he tagged me early and I wasn't able to put him away until the 11th," he said.

"But this time I was warm right from the start. When Yvon started slugging the way he did I knew the fight was going to end early. But I was geared to go from one to 15 rounds anyway."

Wrapping up the fight, Moore smiled broadly and said, "Aesop says never put a mule in a race at Santa Anita."

CHICAGO (AP) — Home runs by Ernie Banks and Sam Taylor fused a five-run bombardment of Don Drysdale in the first inning Wednesday and touched off an 11-8 Chicago Cubs victory over the pennant-hopeful Los Angeles Dodgers.

A 35-mph tailwind turned Wright Field into a hitters' paradise. The Cubs collected 16 hits, including four homers, off an assortment of five Dodger pitchers in sweeping the two-game series.

The Dodgers drove Bob Anderson to cover in the 8th when Charlie Neal's 15th homer was good for three of the five runs scored in the inning. In all the Dodgers pounded out 12 hits. John Roseboro hit his No. 6 home run in the second.

Anderson got the victory, his fourth straight over the Dodgers this season, but it was the first time he has failed to go the distance. His record for the year is 8-8.

mond in the driver's seat early. Talbot's homer, his fifth, came in the third. And Talbot's single and Taylor's double accounted for the other first-game run in the fifth.

But the big news from the cellar was the continued classy hurling by Atlanta hilltoppers. Raymond, clutch-tough from start to finish, stranded 11 Pels in the seven-inning game in winning his third victory against four defeats. He left Thiel reading 9-7.

Fireballing Kolakowski, outstanding for the sixth straight time, let the Pelicans down with six hits and whiffed eight. The victory was his eighth against 10 defeats.

He, too, seemed headed for a shutout until the eighth. A single by Bradey, walk and Dick Means' 13th homer tied a 3-3 knot for the Pels.

Leading the Pels 10-5 for the year (8-2, here), the Crackers will send Jerry Nelson (1-5) to the mound at 7:45 Thursday night. Righthander Charlie Ready (5-4) will attempt the final Poncey game of the season for Mel Parnell's people.

WILLETT WILL DEFEND STATE TENNIS TITLE

Frank Willett will definitely defend his doubles crown and hopes to protect his singles title when the Georgia State Tennis Tournament begins Monday at Betsy Grant Center.

Starting in 1950, Willett has been a singles finalist in the tourney every year except 1957 and emerged victorious in 1951-52-53-56-58.

Even more impressive is the doubles monopoly of Willett and Howard McCall. They have won the state tandem title the last six years. And only once in six years has the Willett-McCall team lost to a local comb.

The adult state tourney runs from Aug. 17-23. Juniors take over the next week, from Aug. 24-30. Adult entry deadline is 1 p.m. Sunday. Address entries to Jack Rodgers, Betsy Grant Tennis Center, Atlanta—CUNNINGHAM

Fox, Lollar Tip Tigers For Chisox

DETROIT (AP)—The Chicago White Sox unloaded their biggest offensive in nearly three months Wednesday, bombarding five Detroit Tiger pitchers in an 11-6 triumph at Briggs Stadium.

Specialists in one-run victories, the White Sox had not scored as many as 10 runs in any game since May 17.

But this time they protected their lead over the Cleveland Indians by taking advantage of some shabby Detroit pitching and coming through with some extra base power at opportune stages.

Five of the eight runners put on base via walks from the Tigers scored, offsetting Detroit home runs by Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline and Frank Bolling.

Catcher Sherm Lollar put the White Sox in front to stay with a three-run homer in the fifth off loser Pete Burnside. The runs were the first the veteran receiver had driven home since July 25.

RADEMACHER, THOMPSON: 'I'M GONNA WIN IT EARLY'

By GEORGE CUNNINGHAM

COLUMBUS—Pete Rademacher resumes a much-discussed boxing career here Thursday night, battling preliminary-tough Tommy Thompson of Washington, D.C., in a scheduled 10-round heavyweight match.

Rademacher says he will weight in at 203, Thompson 195. Some 2,500 fans are expected at Municipal Auditorium. Preliminaries begin at 8:30.

Thompson, arriving here Wednesday, was confident he could handle Rademacher, the Cinderella Man who was knocked out by Floyd Patterson in his first pro fight.

"Rademacher is big and strong and can be hit," Thompson said. "This was proven in his fight against Patterson. I'm not going to take any chances of getting tagged, but I'm going to try and put him away early. If I don't, I feel sure I can outbox him and take the decision."

Thompson, an ex-Marine champ, is a ring veteran. He began his pro career in 1952 and owns a record of 19 wins, 11 defeats and a draw through 1958, according to Ring Record Book.

He says he has improved the mark with five straight victories this year. However, as late as 1958, he still was fighting preliminaries. Thompson also owns a strong right hand, as evidenced by his 11 knockouts.

He has been stopped four times and has gone 10 rounds but twice prior to 1959, losing both decisions.

Rademacher, halted in four rounds by Zora Folley in his only other pro fight, claims Thompson is merely the first stepping stone to another crack at the crown.

Pete was oozing with confidence over this fight, predicting it would end early with him the winner.

"I'm ready for this one both mentally and physically. I learned a lot in my previous two fights," he said, "and that experience is going to make the difference against Thompson."

In Thompson's last fight in 1958, Willie Pastano, the patting pugilist, kayoed him here in four rounds. It will be hometown-boy Rademacher's first showing in Columbus.

Billy Walters, a Rademacher sparring partner, faces another heavyweight, Dan Vanderford, in the semifinals. Walter kayoed Vanderford in 1957 and won a decision over the Spartanburg, S.C., fighter in 1958.

Havana Welcomes Atlanta Group

HAVANA (AP)—Atlanta residents who arrived here for the annual "Havatlanta Games" said Wednesday they were welcomed warmly and well treated despite the excitement over the conspiracy. There were 136 in the party.

Under the sponsorship of the Northside Atlanta Kiwanis Club, a group of youngsters from that city start their competition to-night in swimming, diving, golf and baseball against Havana athletes.

The program begins with a diving competition at the Hotel Havana Riviera. It will be continued at the Biltmore Country Club, where it will be climaxed at the end of four days with a baseball game between Atlanta and Havana teams made up of boys under 14 years of age.

A. B. Padgett of Atlanta, coordinator of the games, said no trace of anti-Americanism had been encountered.

Aaron Adds Solo Blast
As Braves Climb to 2nd

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two home runs by Eddie Mathews and one by Hank Aaron provided the big punches Wednesday night for a 6-4 victory by the Milwaukee Braves over the Cincinnati Reds.

The victory moved the Braves into second place in the National League, dropping the Los Angeles Dodgers to third. The Dodgers lost to the Chicago Cubs 11-8.

Mathews got his homers, his 32nd and 33rd, in his first two times at bat and there was a man on base each time. Aaron's came in the fifth with no one on but his triple led to another Brave tally.

All of the Braves' homers came off rookie Jim O'Toole but he struck out eight. Gus Bell got four hits in five times at bat and drove in three of the Cincinnati runs.

the performance until Moore terminated it with his crushing, sharp punches.

Because Moore had trouble with Durelle the last time, and because Moore is supposed to be constantly beset by the problem of getting down to the class weight of 175 pounds, the odds were fairly close. Archie was the betting favorite, but the price on him was only 13 to 5 when he stepped into the ring.

There is another thing about Moore that continues to give his light heavyweight rivals hope, and that is the matter of Archie's age. He says he was born in 1916, but some say he's older. At any rate, his age is supposed to be a factor against his boxing stamina, but so far it hasn't handicapped him.

Moore took no chances against Durelle, and he was prepared for the wild right-hand attack that served the Canadian so well in December. In the opening round, Moore used both hands to the head at long range, and kept out of range of Durelle's punches, although the Canadian did land a good short right to the face midway in the session.

Moore made his opponent look good in the second round, and the crowd, as well as Durelle, was deceived by what they saw. After Moore made Durelle wince with a right to the body, Archie allowed his foe to force him to the ropes. There, leaning against the strands, and with his hands in front of his face, Moore let Durelle swing away at him steadily.

From what happened in the second round, Moore learned all that he had to know about his man. Coming out for the third, Archie stepped into a straight left to the face. Then the champion released a left-hand fire of his own, driving the weapon into Durelle's face with speed and causing Durelle's head to snap back.

Archie brought both hands to the attack, and he scored the first knockdown with a right to the jaw. Durelle was up at the count of nine, but a left which followed a series of head blows, put him down again for nine.

When Durelle arose, he was groggy, and Moore leaped at him, to flatten him with a right. Durelle got up at six, but Sharkey let him have three seconds more while he was on his feet before returning to the attack. Durelle had little to offer when his rival sprang at him, and he went down under a two-handed barrage.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Cleveland mounted a 15-hit attack including home runs by Minnie Minoso, Rus Nixon and Jim Baxes that gave the Indians a 9-4 victory Wednesday night over the Kansas City Athletics.

Gary Bell, sophomore Cleveland righthander, got credit for his 13th victory and kept the Indians 2½ games behind the Chicago White Sox, American League leaders.

$12.95 TIRES ARE NOT FOR TURNPIKES

READ THE FACTS BEFORE YOU BUY!

- High speed driving on super highways demands stronger, safer tires than anyone can sell for $12.95.
- B.F. Goodrich makes economy tires that give outstanding service. But they're designed for normal city and country driving, not for long periods at sustained high speeds on turnpikes, thoroughways and freeways.
- "Testing" a low-price tire on a turnpike doesn't necessarily make it safe for day-in, day-out performance under bruising, pounding conditions.
- Turnpike tires call for the strongest materials, toughest plies, painstaking design and construction. Risking life and property on anything less is sheer folly. High-speed tires can't be built for $12.95.

'Attitude's The Thing,' Says Graham

From Press Dispatches
Both the Baltimore Colts and College All-Stars took it easy Wednesday, but the collegians' coach, Otto Graham, moved into high speaking gear.

Graham told a Kickoff Luncheon in Chicago, site of the Friday football spectacular:

"Mental attitude can play a big part. When the pros come and don't want to pay the price, that's when they get licked."

So Graham will have an ample supply of jinegar and pep to administer to his collegians.

"There's no question we'll have to pass a lot," Graham continued. "We certainly can't overpower their line. But we should be able to score on them. Our receivers are good enough, and our passers are good enough."

Sounds good enough? Well, almost because Graham adds: "Of course, our line will have to keep out their horses."

CRICKETS ARE SINGING A HOT SONG

By CHARLES ELLIOTT
Constitution Outdoor Columnist

A friend called the other evening and asked if I knew anything about a formula involving crickets, the number of chirps they make a minute, and the relation of the sound to the temperature of the moment. He said it was a formula some outside Einstein had developed, but that he had no idea where he might find it. I asked if he'd lost his thermometer and had to rely on the crickets for a temperature reading. It developed that he had unwittingly projected this bit of information into a conversation with Pete Smith, genial host and owner of Watts Bar Village up in the Tennessee lowlands, and Pete stated flatly, "Tain't so!", thereby starting what is known in more polite circles as a hassle.

Now if there is anything Pete Smith will argue about, it's anything. It is one way he entertains his more intelligent guests when the weather on the lake blows foul and the fishermen have to stay indoors. The guy is a sort of walking encyclopedia, and when you get involved in a verbal fracas with him, you'd better know what you are talking about. If you are not sure of your subject, you'll be sure you are not sure after you parry verbs and adjectives with him for a while.

I told my caller there was such a formula and that I should be able to find it somewhere in my stack of information and misinformation, and promised if I did, I'd write a note to Pete, telling him about the crickets.

So I dug and sure enough, learned that a fellow by the name of Oliver Perry Medsger, B.S. (it didn't give the meaning of the abbreviation after his name) had listened to a lot of crickets and that by the number of times they chirped each minute, any mathematician with a pencil and a second hand on his watch, could tell the exact temperature. The formula he gave was this:

$$T = 50 + \frac{N - 40}{4}$$

T stands for temperature in degrees Fahrenheit, and N designates the number of cricket chirps per minute. By counting the chirps and applying this formula, you can throw away your thermometer. Mr. Medsger indicated that—not I.

Temperature of water is one of the factors in successful angling. Temperature of the air generally helps to influence how hot or cold a body of water might be. That makes me wonder whether we'd even been fast enough to count the chirps for the past week or so. The heat has been so terrific that every cricket would probably sound like a wooden alarm clock, or a buzz-saw.

All this information should be welcome news to the crickets-for-bait growers. There must be at least a squillion crickets used in this country every year for some of the smaller game fish. Now the growers can announce a dual-purpose cricket, which will tell the temperature before it is sacrificed to the sharp barb of a hook. Maybe by selective breeding, they can even develop a race of crickets that will chirp the number of degrees, and we can do away with the mathematical part of the problem.

By the way—how do you identify the chirp of a cricket? I got one mixed up with a tree frog the other evening when I was trying out the formula, and ended up with a reading of 123 degrees. The thermometer wasn't quite that high, but then, thermometers can be wrong.

Upsets Highlight Crackerland Play

Special to The Constitution
ATHENS—A host of upsets marked Wednesday's play in the giant Crackerland Tennis Championships here.

Defending junior men's champ Charles Benedict of Atlanta was upset in the quarter-finals by Jimmy Boykin, Columbus, 7-9, 6-0, 7-5. But the Mid-South prep school champion came back in the afternoon to beat Dan Magill, Athens, 7-5, 6-3, in the men's singles. Benedict will play for tennis coach Magill as a University of Georgia freshman next season.

Grant Carter of Atlanta, who also will be a Bullup in September, upset Georgia High School champion Bob Hardcastle of Atlanta, 6-3, 7-5, in the junior men's quarter-finals. Hardcastle previously had won three three-set matches from Carter this summer.

One champion was crowned. Nancy Haynie of Belton, S.C., defeated Frances Connell of Atlanta for the girls' 13 title, 6-1, 9-7.

The Farmington Invitational at Charlottesville, Va.

TENNIS—Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., defeated Crawford Henry of Atlanta, 7-5, 6-1, and Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., stopped Ned Neely, Atlanta, 6-3, 6-4, in third round play of the Newport Casino Invitation Tournament. Neely and Ray Senkowski, Hamtramck, Mich., won their doubles match, beating Sergio Tacchini, Italy, and Crawford, 6-3, 12-10. . . . Crawford Henry and Don Dell have been seeded fourth for the National Tennis Doubles Tournament beginning Sunday at Brookline, Mass.

CARSON'S PRO REPORT

EX-VOL ANDERSON SHINES AS REDSKINS HONE KNIVES

By JOHNNY CARSON
Former Georgia All-America and Washington Redskin

GLENDAL, Calif.—The third week in training camp is the one most feared by the veteran players of the Washington Redskins because it's intrasquad game time. It's bad, real bad, when you have to go after the scalps of your own teammates.

I remember two years ago we played our intrasquad game in the Rose Bowl. We had 11 fights in that game. Then last year it was even worse. Dick Stanfel and Red Stephens, both first-string guards, received knee injuries, along with halfback Jim Podoley, who had been a great rookie sensation the year before. Defensive end Gene Brito broke a small bone in his hand and missed four weeks. Stanfel, Stephens and Podoley were never 100 per cent well until successful knee operations after the 1958 season. It's plain to see why the veterans dislike the intrasquad game.

This year the coaches had it all figured out. They would put the first team offense and defense on the same team and play the rest of the squad.

Long runs and passes were exploded all over the field as the West, the first stringers, defeated the East, 30-13. Bill

Anderson, second-year end from Tennessee, stole the show by snagging two lengthy touchdown passes for the West, one good for 50 yards, and the other covered 42 yards. Don Bosseler tallied on a three-yard plunge and from two yards. Dick James sliced through for a score, and of course Sam "The Toe" Baker did the rest of the scoring.

The East, blanked for three quarters, salvaged two spectacular, crowd-pleasing touchdowns in the closing minutes.

Johnny Olszewski powered through left guard and outran everyone for a 72-yard touchdown and Eagle Day went 97 yards up the sidelines with a kickoff.

The contest had its usual early season rough spots, the passes in particular not being very accurate. But the players on both sides hit exceptionally hard. Of course we had our injuries. Four Redskins suffered injuries in the heavy knocking. One of our most promising rookies, Joe Nicely, a guard from West Virginia, was taken to the hospital with a shoulder separation. Bosseler was kicked in the ribs, Chet Ostrowski dislocated a finger and Bobby Hoppe banged up his knee.

So you can see why the veterans get a little shaky at intrasquad game, your chances for injuries are doubled.

Oh yes, I almost forgot to mention I played for the winning team and didn't get anything but sore for it, plus an orange at half-time and a bottle of pop after the game. Now we really go to work.

Next week we take on the San Francisco 49ers in Kezar Stadium at San Francisco.

Sams, Ware and Clay Stay In Southern Amateur Golf

Wysong's 66 Sets Course Mark; Henry, Neely Fall at Newport

From Press Dispatches
Dudley Wysong, a tall, 20-year-old Texan, shattered the Jackson (Miss.) Country Club course record with a searing 66 Wednesday in the opening round of match play in the 53rd Southern Amateur Golf Tournament.

Wysong tripped David Gray of Dallas, Tex., 2-up in the four-under-par performance.

Eddie Sams of Athens, Jim Clay of Atlanta and Cobby Ware of Augusta were the Georgians surviving first-round play.

Sams defeated Jimmy Hinton, Tuscaloosa, Ala., 5 and 4; Clay beat E. V. Cleveland, Jackson, Miss., 3 and 2, and Ware mashed Frank Mize, Panama City, Fla., 6 and 5.

Dr. John McKee, Orlando, Fla., ousted Charles Harrison, Atlanta, 4 and 3; Walter Love, Laurel, Miss., beat Joe Segal, Atlanta, 3 and 2, and Maynard Craft, Jackson, Miss., stopped Jerry Greenbaum, Atlanta, 2-up.

MORE GOLF—Defending champ Billy Key of Columbus is nine strokes off the pace in the Western Amateur at Portland, Ore. Key fired a one-under-par 71 for a 217. Art Butler of Pasadena leads with a 208. . . . Polly Riley holds a five-stroke lead in

Cargal Gets 1-0 Victory

Smyrna strikeout artist Jimmy Cargal fanned 15 batters Wednesday night as he bested Milstead's Buddy Randle, 1-0, in an Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation playoff game.

In other contests, Shurbutt's Service battered Dundee, 9-1, and Cartersville clipped Bolton, 6-3.

Smyrna pushed its run across in the first inning on two singles, a walk and an error. Milstead loaded the sacks in the fourth, but Cargal whiffed the next two batters to retire the side.

Investing Your Money

By WILLIAM DOYLE

Monthly Plan Best Reinvestor

Question: I own just a few shares of common stock. I am not buying through the Monthly Investment Plan. Is it possible for me to set up a simple program to automatically reinvest my dividends?

Answer: It would be impractical, maybe even impossible.

The first thing you would have to do would be to leave your stocks with a broker—in "a street name." There's nothing wrong with that. It's often a good idea.

But, for automatic reinvestment of dividends, you would have to set up a pretty complicated kind of discretionary account. It's doubtful that any broker would want to handle such an account if there are only a few shares of stock involved.

If you keep the stocks in a street name, your broker will send you a statement each month. As your stocks pay cash dividends, your account will show a cash balance. When you have a high enough cash balance, you can order additional stock.

That would be a fairly simple (although not automatic) way to accomplish your purposes.

The easiest way to reinvest dividends on common stock, of course, is through the Monthly Investment Plan. That method, which permits investments of as little as $40 every three months, can be used to buy any of the stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Through MIP, each payment you make is invested in full and fractional shares. You don't have to wait until you have accumulated enough money to buy a full share. And you can easily arrange for the reinvestment of your dividends on the same basis.

NEW YORK (AP)—Space age stocks erased early gains and stumbled to losses as the stock market beat an irregular retreat.

Brokers said it was pretty much of a traders' market as profits were taken on the rebound from the steep setback of Monday.

In a vigorous opening accompanied by a late tick-tape prices rose. As turnover slackened the list sank into irregularity for a while, then improved to show a modest gain most of the day. Only in the final hour were prices clipped in a fairly active selling drive.

The performance looked like a secondary test of Monday's lull to Wall Street analysts. There was no great rush to sell as the ticker tape kept easily abreast of transactions when prices were taking their worst beating.

Record-breaking statistics for employment and for paperboard production, the latter an indication of thriving business, combined with optimistic forecasts to indicate that the economy is doing well despite the steel strike.

Such stocks as Texas Instruments and Litton Industries were up about 4 at their best. By the close, Texas Instruments was down 1 1/4 and Litton 3/4.

Key stocks were down from fractions to a point or more. Most of the steels were steady until near the end. Losses of more than a point were shown by U.S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Jones & Laughlin and Lukens.

U.S. Gypsum dropped 2 points despite a raise in dividends to

Cotton Closes 10-to-40 Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 10 to 40 cents a bale lower.

Prices were depressed by hedging and commission house liquidation. Some of the latter selling, which uncovered a few stop-loss selling orders, was attributed to a continued flow of favorable crop and weather reports. The movement of the new crop continued to expand. This resulted in hedge sales.

Purchases of futures were credited to textile mills and short covering.

3 Negroes To Appeal Rape Case

HONEST HOMER SCOTT ON HOBBY HORSE
Herbert Tabor, Standing, Is an Old Friend

Constitution State News Service
LAGRANGE — Defense lawyers said Wednesday they will appeal the death sentence of three Negro men convicted Tuesday of the multiple rape of a 20-year-old white woman.

Attorney James Weldon said the appeal motion will be filed within two weeks for Brannon Epps, 24; Clifford Johnson, 32; and George Alford.

Coweta Circuit Judge Samuel J. Boykin has set Oct. 2 for their death in the electric chair.

The trio was convicted after a two-day trial. The jury, composed mostly of leading Troup County citizens, deliberated about five and one-half hours before finding the trio guilty without a recommendation of mercy.

'Honest' Carney Doesn't Get Rich, But He Can Return

By HUNTER JAMES
Constitution Staff Writer
HIWASSEE — Honest Homer Scott is a 54-year-old carnival man who has used just about everything but the Protestant Church as a character reference.

Homer Scott has always billed himself as "honest" and he's never had a girlie show and he's never had the PTA get up a petition to run him out of town. Homer Scott is the kind that would ask the PTA for a character reference.

Sometimes it's a civic club that recommends him to a town and sometimes it's the American Legion.

NO REFERENCE NEEDED

And there are some towns in which he doesn't even need a reference. Like Hiwassee, where his carnival is playing the Georgia Mountain Fair this week.

Not a word was said when Honest Homer Scott pitched his tents and put up his rides next to the Baptist Church grounds. He plays the Mountain Fair every year, never has any trouble getting a reference.

One night, when business was slow, Homer Scott came out of his house trailer, slanted his hat brim to shade his eyes from the carney lights and smiled.

"I won't get rich tonight," he said. "There's nothing I can do about that. As long as a man doesn't try to get rich overnight he won't have any trouble the next time he comes back."

He sat down in a folding chair and got into a conversation with a man who had once recommended him to the town of Hiwassee.

"A few years ago," he said, "a man could clean out a town one night and be a hundred miles down the road the next night and nobody would know the difference. A man can't do that now. He has to be smarter. For myself, I never wanted to make a living like that anyhow."

Then he looked wistful. "Maybe I did some things in my younger days that I shouldn't have. I don't guess I ought to tell it on myself, but I did a lot of things I wouldn't think about doing now."

Homer Scott said he got into the carnival business "to get out of hoeing cotton." He joined up with a show out of Montgomery, Ala., and operated a concession for many years.

He didn't get his own show together until after World War II.

"There were a lot of guys who had worked in carnivals before the war, and when the war was over they wanted their own show. They were popping up everywhere. A guy would pop up out of nowhere and the first thing you knew he would pop out. He would try to get rich overnight and somebody would pop him into jail."

BIG DAY OVER?

Some say the big day of carnivals is over. The idea is that the public has gotten wise to most of the tricks. But Homer Scott said there was little indication of that.

The honest man will always be around, he said, and for that matter, so will the genial humbug.

"People that want to make a living that way, they are studying new gimmicks all the time to keep up with the times. When I first got into this business, the old timers used to tell me, 'Buddy, you got to find another racket, this one is finished.' There's always been that kind of talk."

Homer Scott works a 27-week season, spends six months getting his equipment into shape for the next year. He winters in Toccoa, Ga., where he was born.

He preters a small town. He has tried working the fringes of big cities but never with much success.

OFFERS PREACHER $25
He worked a spot outside Atlanta last year and had one of the poorest turnouts of his career.

"I had to compete with a jumping preacher down there. He was supposed to be out of town the day I came in, but I heard him telling the crowd the night before that he would have to stay another night or so to get $25 to pay his light bill."

"He had a pretty good show, but I was upset about that $25. So after it was over I went around to see him and told him, 'Preacher, I heard your sermon and it was pretty good, but something you said bothered me a little.' So I offered to give him the $25 but he wouldn't take it."

"That's when he told me that he had a delegation coming down from North Carolina the next night and that he couldn't afford to leave."
